HISTORICAL PAPERS AND DOCUMENTS

GOALS OF FREEDOM

Manila, October 25, 1966

We, the Seven Nations gather in Manila, declare our unity, our resolve, and our purpose in seeking together the goals of freedom in Viet-Nam and in the Asian and Pacific areas. They are:

- 1. To be free from aggression.*
- 2. To conquer hunger, illiteracy and disease.*
- 3. To build a region of security, order and progress.*
- 4. To seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia and the Pacific.*

JOINT COMMUNIQUE

INTRODUCTION

1. In response to an invitation from the President of the Republic of the Philippines, after consultations with the President of the Republic of Korea and the Prime Ministers of Thailand and the Republic of Viet-Nam, the leaders of seven nations in the Asian and Pacific region held in summit conference in Manila on October 24 and 25, 1966 to consider the conflict in South Viet-Nam and to review their wider purposes in Asia and the Pacific. The participants were Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia, President Park Chung Hee of the Republic of Korea, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines, Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand, President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States of America, and Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao ky of the Republic of Viet-Nam.

BASIC POLICY

2. The nations represented at this conference are united in their determination that the freedom of the Republic of Viet-Nam be secured, in their resolve for peace, and in their deep concern for the future of Asia and the Pacific. Some of us are now close to the actual danger, while others have learned to know its significance through bitter past experience. This conference symbolizes our common purposes and high hopes.

3. We are united in our determination that the Vietnamese people shall not be conquered by aggressive force and shall enjoy the inherent right to choose their own way of life and their own form of government. We shall continue our military and all other efforts, as firmly and as long as may be necessary, in close consultation among ourselves until the aggression is ended.

4. At the same time our united purpose is peace—peace in South Viet-Nam and in the rest of Asia and the Pacific. Our common commitment is to the defense of the Vietnamese people. Our sole demand on the leaders of North Viet-Nam is that they abandon their aggression. We are prepared to pursue any avenue which could lead to a secure and just peace, whether through discussion and negotiation or through reciprocal actions by both sides to reduce the violence.

5. We are united in looking to a peaceful and prosperous future for all of Asia and the Pacific. We have therefore set forth in a separate declaration a statement of the principles that guide our common actions in this wider sphere.

6. Actions taken in pursuance of the policies herein stated shall be in accordance with our respective constitutional processes.

PROGRESS AND PROGRAMS IN SOUTH VIET-NAM THE MILITARY EFFORT

7. The Government of Viet-Nam described the significant military progress being made against aggression. It noted with particular gratitude the substantial contribution being made by free world forces.

8. Nonetheless, the leaders noted that the movement of forces from North Viet-Nam continues at a high rate and that firm military action and free world support continue to be required to meet the threat. The necessity for such military action and support must depend for its size and duration on the intensity and duration of the Communist aggression itself.

9. In their discussion, the leaders reviewed the problem of prisoners of war. The participants observed that Hanoi has consistently refused to cooperate with the International Committee or the Red Cross in the application of the Geneva Conventions, and called on Hanoi to do so. They reaffirmed their determination to comply fully with the Geneva Conventions of 1949 for the Protection of War Victims, and welcomed the resolution adopted by the Executive Committee of the League of Red Cross Societies on October 8, 1966, calling for compliance with the Geneva Conventions in the Viet-Nam conflict, full support for the International Committee of the Red Cross, and immediate action to repatriate seriously sick and wounded prisoners of war. They agreed to work toward the fulfillment of this resolution, in cooperation with the International Committee of the Red Cross, and indicated their willingness to meet under the auspices of the ICRC or in any appropriate forum to discuss the immediate exchange of prisoners.

PACIFICATION AND REVOLUTIONARY DEVELOPMENT

10. The participating governments concentrated particular attention on the accelerating efforts of the Government of Viet-Nam to forge a social revolution of hope and progress. Even as the conflict continues, the effort goes forward to overcome the tyranny of poverty, disease, illiteracy and social injustice.

11. The Vietnamese leaders stated their intent to train and assign a substantial share of the armed forces a clear-and-hold actions in order to provide a shield behind which a new society can be built.

12. In the field of Revolutionary Development, measures along the lines developed in the past year and a half will be expanded and intensified. The training of Revolutionary Development cadres will be improved. More electricity and good water will be provided. More and better schools will be built and staffed. Refugees will be taught new skills. Health and medical facilities will be expanded.

13. The Vietnamese Government declared that it is working out a series of measures to modernize agriculture and to assure the cultivator the fruits of his labor. Land reform and tenure provisions will be granted top priority. Agricultural credit will be expanded. Crops will be improved and diversified.

14. The Vietnamese leaders emphasized that underlying these measures to build confidence and cooperation among the people there must be popular conviction that honesty, efficiency and social justice form solid cornerstones of the Vietnamese Government's programs.

15. This is a program each of the conferring governments has reason to applaud recognizing that it opens a brighter hope for the people of Viet-Nam. Each pledged its continuing assistance according to its means, whether in funds or skilled technicians or equipment. They noted also the help in non-military fields given by other countries and expressed the hope that this help will be substantially increased.

ECONOMIC STABILITY AND PROGRESS

16. The Conference was told of the success of the government of the Viet-Nam in controlling the inflation which, if unchecked, could undercut all efforts to bring a more fulfilling life to the Vietnamese people. However, the Vietnamese leaders reaffirmed that only by constant effort could inflation be kept under control. They described their intention to enforce vigorous stabilization program, to control spending, increase revenues, and seek to promote savings in order to hold the 1967 inflationary gap to the minimum practicable level. They also plan to take further measures to insure maximum utilization of the Port of Saigon, so that imports urgently needed to fuel the military effort and buttress the civil economy can flow rapidly into Viet-Nam.

17. Looking to the long-term future of their richly endowed country, the Vietnamese representatives described their views and plans for the building of an expanded post-war economy.

18. Military installations where appropriate will be converted to this purpose, and plans for this will be included.

19. The conferring nations reaffirmed their continuing support for Vietnamese efforts to achieve economic stability and progress. Thailand specifically noted its readiness to extend substantial new credit assistance for the purchase of rice and the other nations present reported a number of plans for the supply of food or other actions related to the economic situation. At the same time, the participants agreed to appeal to other nations and to international organizations committed to the full and free development of every nation, for further assistance to the Republic of Viet-Nam.

POLITICAL EVOLUTION

20. The representatives of Viet-Nam noted that, even as the conference met, steps were being taken to establish a new constitutional system for the Republic of Viet-Nam through the work of the Constituent Assembly, chosen by so large a proportion of the electorate last month.

21. The Vietnamese representatives stated their expectation that work on the Constitution would go forward rapidly and could be completed before the deadline of March 1967. The Constitution will then be promulgated and elections will be held within six months to select a representative government.

22. The Vietnamese government believes that the democratic process must be strengthened at the local as well as the national level. The Government of Viet-Nam announced that to this end it will begin holding village and hamlet elections at the beginning of 1967.

23. The Government of Viet-Nam announced that it is preparing a program of National Reconciliation. It declared its determination to open all doors to those Vietnamese who have been misled or coerced into casting their lot with the Viet Cong. The Government seeks to bring them back to participate as free men in national life under amnesty and other measures. Former enemies are asked only to lay down their weapons and bring their skills to the service of the Vietnamese people.

24. The other participating nations welcomed the stated expectation of the Vietnamese representatives that work on the Constitution will proceed on schedule, and concurred in the conviction of the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam that building representative, constitutional government and opening the way for national reconciliation are indispensable to the future of a free Viet-Nam.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

25. The Participants devoted a major share of their deliberations to peace objectives and the search for a peaceful settlement in South Viet-Nam. They reviewed in detail the many efforts for peace that have been undertaken, by themselves and other nations, and the actions of the United Nations and of His Holiness the Pope. It was clearly understood that the settlement of the war in Viet-Nam depends on the readiness and willingness of the parties concerned to explore and work out together a just and reasonable solution. They noted that Hanoi still showed no sign of taking any step toward peace, either by action or by entering into discussions or negotiations. Nevertheless the participants agreed that the search for peace must continue.

26. The Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam declared that the Vietnamese people, having suffered the ravages of war for more than two decades, were second to none in their desire for peace. It welcomes any initiative that will lead to an end to hostilities, preserves the independence of South Viet-Nam and protect the right to choose their own way of life.

27. So that their aspirations and position would be clear to their allies at Manila and friends everywhere, the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam solemnly stated its views as to the essential elements of peace in Viet-Nam:

(1) Cessation of Aggression.—At issue in Viet-Nam is a struggle for the preservation of values which people everywhere have cherished since the dawn of history: the independence of peoples and the freedom of individuals. The people of South Viet-Nam ask only that the aggression that threatens their independence and the externally supported terror that threatens their freedom be halted. No self-respecting people can ask for less. No peace-loving nation should ask for more.

(2) Preservation of the Territorial Integrity of South Viet-Nam.—The people of South Viet-Nam are defending their own territory against those seeking to obtain by force and terror what they have been unable to accomplish by peaceful means. While sympathizing with the plight of their brothers in the North and while disdaining the regime in the North, the South Vietnamese people have no desire to threaten or harm the people of the North or invade their country.

(3) Reunification of Viet-Nam.—The government and people of South Viet-Nam deplore the partition of Viet-Nam into North and South. But this partition brought about by the Geneva Agreements of 1954, however unfortunate and regrettable, will be respected until, by the free choice of all Vietnamese, reunification is achieved.

(4) Resolution of Internal Problems.—The people of South Viet-Nam seek to resolve their own internal differences and to this end are prepared to engage in a program of national reconciliation. When the aggression has stopped, the people of South Viet-Nam will move more rapidly toward reconciliation of all elements in the society and will move forward, through the democratic process, toward human dignity, prosperity and lasting peace.

(5) Removal of Allied Military Forces.—The people of the Republic of Viet-Nam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Viet-Nam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides.

(6) Effective Guarantees.—The people of South Viet-Nam mindful of their experience since 1954, insist that any negotiations leading to the end of hostilities incorporate effective international guarantees. They are open-minded as such guarantees can be applied and made effective.

28. The other participating governments reviewed and endorsed these as essential elements of peace and agreed they would act on this basis in close consultation among themselves in regard to settlement of the conflict.

29. In particular, they declared that Allied forces are in the Republic of Viet-Nam because that country is the object of aggression and its government requested support in the resistance of its people to aggression. They shall be withdrawn, after close consultation, as the other side withdraws its forces to the North, ceases infiltration, and the level of violence thus subsides. Those forces will be withdrawn as soon as possible and not later than six months after the above conditions have been fulfilled.

CONTINUING CONSULTATION AMONG THE PARTICIPATING NATIONS

30. All the participants agreed that the value of a meeting among the seven nations had been abundantly demonstrated by the candid and thorough discussions held. It was further agreed that, in addition to the close consultation already maintained through diplomatic channels, there should be regular meetings among their Ambassadors in Saigon in association with the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam. Meetings of their Foreign Ministers and Heads of Government will also be held as required.

31. At the close of the meeting, all the visiting participants expressed their deep gratitude to President Marcos and to the Government of the Republic of the Philippines for offering Manila as the conference site, and expressed their appreciation for the highly efficient arrangements.

DECLARATION OF PEACE AND PROGRESS IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

We, the leaders of the Seven Nations gathered in Manila:
Desiring peace and progress in the Asian-Pacific region;
Having faith in the purposes and principles of the United Nations which call for the suppression of acts of aggression and respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples;

Determined that aggression should not be rewarded;

Respecting the right of all peoples to choose and maintain their own forms of government;

Seeking a peaceful settlement of the war in Viet-Nam;
and

Being greatly encouraged by the growing regional understanding and regional cooperation among the free nations of Asia and the Pacific

Hereby proclaim this declaration of principles on which we base our hopes for future peace and progress in the Asian and Pacific region:

I. Aggression must not succeed.

The peace and security of Asia and the Pacific and, indeed, of the entire world, are indivisible. The nations of the Asian and Pacific region shall enjoy their independence and sovereignty free from aggression, outside interference, or the domination of any nation. Accepting the hard-won lessons of history that successful aggression anywhere endangers the peace, we are determined to fulfill our several commitments under the United Nations Charter and various mutual security treaties so that aggression in the region of Asia and the Pacific shall not succeed.

II. We must break the bonds of poverty, illiteracy and disease.

In the region of Asia and the Pacific, where there is a rich heritage of intrinsic worth and dignity of every man, we recognize the responsibility of every nation to join in an expanding offensive against poverty, illiteracy and disease. For these bind men to lives of hopelessness and despair; these are the roots of violence and war. It is when men know that progress is possible and is being achieved, when they are convinced that their children will lead better, fuller, richer lives that men lift up their heads in the hope and pride. Only thus can there be lasting national stability and internal order.

III. We must strengthen economic, social and cultural cooperation within the Asian and Pacific region.

Together with our other partners of Asia and the Pacific, we will develop the institutions and practice of regional cooperation. Through sustained effort we aim to build in this vast area, where almost two-thirds of humanity live, a region of security and order and progress, realizing its common destiny in the light of its own traditions and aspirations. The peoples of this region have the right as well as the primary responsibility to deal with their own problems and to shape their own future in terms of their own wisdom and experience. Economic and cultural cooperation for regional development should be open to all countries in the region, irrespective of creed or ideology, which genuinely follow a policy of peace and harmony among all nations. Nations outside the region will be welcomed as partners working for the common benefit and their cooperation will be sought in forms consonant with the independence and dignity of the Asian and Pacific nations.

A peaceful and progressive Asia, in which nations are able to work together for the common good, will be a major factor in establishing peace and prosperity throughout the world and improving the prospects of international cooperation and a better life for all mankind.

IV. We must seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia.

We do not threaten the sovereignty or territorial integrity of our neighbors, whatever their ideological alignment. We ask only that this be reciprocated. The quarrels and ambitions of ideology and the painful frictions arising from national fears and grievances, should belong to the past. Aggression rooted in them must not succeed. We shall play our full part in creating an environment in which reconciliation becomes possible, for in the modern world men and nations have no choice but to learn to live together as brothers.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT MARCOS ON THE OPENING DAY OF THE MANILA SUMMIT CONFERENCE HELD AT CONGRESS ON OCTOBER 24, 1966.

As chairman of the Manila Summit Conference of 1966, it is my pleasure to assume this position by the unanimous consent and approval of the members of this conference.

I extend my thanks and the gratitude of my people to the Prime Minister of New Zealand for his generous remarks and to the other members of this conference for their unanimity.

I greet the heads of state and the heads of government who are here as our guests, their ladies, the foreign and other ministers, the distinguished guests and our friends.

For the times are historic and today is a historic day. Perhaps many of us may have missed it, but today is the anniversary of the United Nations Organization, an organization to which humanity clings its hopes for universal brotherhood, for stability and lasting security for all mankind.

But since the beginning of time, the wisest of men had sought to solve the riddle of peace and failed. And so even today, as if mankind drifts in the sea of inertia, man has problems that are sought to be solved with old solutions, and novel questions are answered with ancient formulas. Man who has mastered the firmament and solved the riddle of the atom still seems to grovel at the feet of his ancient enemies—war, hunger, disease. Man, the master and the king of all creation, is still a slave of his own heritage.

For is it not a paradox that in a world of plenty there is want, in a world of science there is disease, in a world of understanding there is war?

So, today, the seven nations here gathered have come to raise their voices for more food for the needy, for enlightenment for the illiterate and for the cure of the sick, as well as for peace in this world.

Seven nations have come to this ancient capital of our nation, with only one thought in mind, and that is, that on Asian initiatives, we seek to lay the basis for the solution of Asian problems.

This historic occasion is indeed the first meeting of the seven nations in Asia, called upon the suggestion of Asian nations. Today is the first attempt of Asia to initiate such a gathering not only to seek to terminate an existing conflict but to establish understanding amongst men. And at the same time, to arrive at a re-assertion of the ideal and the principle for which humanity may best be remembered in our century, and that is, the acceptance of international responsibility for the entire human family.

For from Asia has come and will come, if not aborted, the gravest threat to mankind. The chronicle of the annals of man may well seek in vain for any other parallel in history. For this indeed is an occasion in which we seek to advance the frontiers of nobility.

On behalf of my people, therefore, I extend warm and affectionate welcome to each and everyone of the heads of government and heads of state who are here.

I greet President Park Chung Hee of the Republic of Korea.

I greet Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand.

I greet Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu of the Republic of Vietnam.

I greet Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of the Republic of Vietnam.

I greet Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia.

I greet Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand.

And I greet President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States of America.

We extend welcome to the members of their delegations, and especially to the fair ladies who are here in this gathering.

The presence here alone of the heads of government and the heads of state is to me a great achievement. That we may meet and seek common council is to me a step-forward as we advance the frontiers of human nobility, and that the greatest nation on earth, the United States of America, has come upon the invitation of the Asian nations, not only to advance the cause of peace but to raise her voice in order that there may be stability in our part of the world; that we may meet the problem of hunger, disease and ignorance which is the cause of discontent; this to me is a tribute to American sincerity and the validity of Asian aims.

The whole world realizes the almost insurmountable obstacles in your respective countries that could have prevented your coming here or could have been utilized as an excuse, a valid excuse for non-attendance. It is, therefore, fitting that I point out that the presence here of President Johnson is eloquent proof of a momentous factor in the world situations, and that is the generous acceptance of the United States, its enlightened decision to accept its share and participation in the establishment of stability and security in Asia.

For this, Asia thanks the President of the United States of America.

For he has come as he has well said: to listen, to participate, to cooperate. And he has come to expose himself to Asian feelings and Asian thoughts and Asian aims. And this indeed establishes the fact that it wishes to play a constructive role in Asia today as it turns its face towards this area of deprivation.

The participation of the Prime Ministers of Australia and New Zealand must be noted. For it constitutes a hopeful augury. They are our neighbors by the accidents of geography, but our own brothers, allies, and partners by their own deliberate choice. Developed more than other Asian countries, they are as deeply committed to the freedom and prosperity of Asia and we know that they offer great contributions to the noble objectives of this conference.

The presence here of Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of Vietnam, President Park Chung Hee of Korea, as well as Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand certainly indicates the confluence of the vital interests in this conference of the nations that border the Pacific and the Chinese mainland, the area and region which today is the most sensitive and the most important in the eyes of observers of the international scene.

Thailand, South Vietnam, Korea, and the Philippines have suggested that this meeting be called. And it has been agreed that this was the proper forum in which to discuss a common stand on the bitter conflict that now rages in Vietnam. We have been drawn together by the council of faith and hope. And if our will is strong and we dedicate all our resources to this purpose, we will succeed.

The attention of the world is focused upon us, the skeptics as well as the believers. But the men of goodwill of this world pray that we shall be able to raise the conference to the summit not only of hope but also of probability and achievement.

This council must be a council that shall attain better understanding. It must be a council that shall present a plan for a better and more prosperous Asia. It must be a council that shall seek food for the needy and hungry, that it shall establish and fashion a plan for education for the ignorant and illiterate. It must be a council that shall seek the causes of war and attempt to eradicate them. Thus, this council shall be known in history as a council of peace and not a council of war.

For the peoples of Asia have borne the deadly, crushing weight of deprivation for centuries. And in the uncountable millions of heart not only in Asia but all over the world, there is a unifying reason, there is the deep tender yearning for a little more stability and a little more comfort and food.

The world needs peace. But if Asia must be saved, we must establish peace in Asia. Asian nations have had a surfeit of violence and war. Their deepest longing is not only for security and stability. Their deepest longing is to be able to work without any threat of reprisal, to sleep without any fear of death, to care for their young without any fear of separation, and over and above all, to be able to choose their own kind of government and their own kind of society.

But on the other hand, the peace that Asia seeks is not the peace of betrayal nor of death. It is a peace that would allow an option to each and every country, whether Asia or not, to choose its own form of society, an option to freedom and liberty, the liberty and freedom that will allow the full development of God endowed faculties to each and every man.

Understanding will come not as a victory of one side of a conflict but as a victory for all, in which all humanity can share, and this is the dream that we seek. Thus, the objectives of this conference are those that have been set.

Vietnam, Korea, Thailand and the Philippines have suggested this conference as perhaps the first painful step that we must take in order to attain the dream that I speak of. Before we can realize negotiations with the Communists, it is necessary that the allies of South Vietnam and South Vietnam itself come together and adopt a common stand. It is necessary that the seven nations in Vietnam fashion a plan for the development of Asia that shall eradicate the causes of war not only in Vietnam, not only in Asia, but throughout the world.

We extend a hand conciliation across the China Sea from this coastal city to North Vietnam. But it should respond and it should respond not with the usual spate of slander but with some manifestation of goodwill. The good faith of the nations here has been manifested by the fact that we have not waited for such response from the enemy to start these deliberations.

The conference shall proceed in disregard of invectives from our detractors, nor of the sarcasm of our detractors. We shall proceed and seek to attain these noble objectives that we have set for ourselves. We hope that this conference shall present a general disarmament plan for the development of all of Asia and all the countries of Asia.

We hope that in any gathering that involves Asia, Asia shall be consulted. For there is a fresh new wind that sweeps over the face of Asia; its peoples are more perceptive, its leaders are more dedicated, passionately, to the interest of their people; and Asia can no longer accept western formulas without questioning or participation. Asia hopes that it shall be given participation in the determination of its own destiny.

The Asian Development Bank now rises to my mind and reminds me that perhaps the charter of this bank may well be the Magna Carta of Asian prosperity and stability. If we unite behind this idea, the Asian Development Bank may well be the beginning of a new and prosperous Asia. It may well illuminate the causes of war. It may well be the starting point for the eradication of the causes of war. It may well exterminate such causes and ultimately bring about only the prosperity of Asia but also the stability of the entire world.

However, experience has taught us that the pursuit of goodwill is a long and tedious process. This conference is but the beginning of such a process. Realities also compel us and caution us to understand that miracles cannot be attained within the short span of these two days of conference. However, the stakes in Vietnam go beyond Vietnam, go beyond Asia, into the world and, therefore, we must persist upon this search for universal brotherhood.

And if we shall be able to fashion a plan to illumine these causes of war and bring to the attention of all the nations and peoples of the world such causes, we shall move forward towards the ideal of universal brotherhood.

So, today we are here to seek a new summit in the world's aspiration for a life without war. No conference of heads of state has set a more noble vision nor a more urgent one. Let the historians, therefore, record that we have gathered here to meet this challenge and that we have done our share in the pursuit of the ideal of a universal brotherhood. The skeptics and the fatalists know not the agony in Asia but we do. And so gathering all our strength even as against a world of discouragement, we shall accept the odium and the stigma that our detractors would seek to attach to this pursuit of universal brotherhood. And doing so, we can only say that no man quiet his conscience unless he pursues with vigor every opening and opportunity that is granted him as an avenue for the attainment of peace.

And so today, let the historians also record that with a prayer in our hearts we come to articulate the vague, groping yearnings of the mute, silent and suffering multitudes of the earth; the multitudes that do not participate in grave decisions, perhaps have no interest in the causes of conflicts but still must suffer the casualties of war. For these multitudes, we come to offer and will offer the best that is in us, all that we can muster of human courage, human wisdom, human resourcefulness, human ingenuity, human love, human compassion; and beyond this, no mortal on earth can offer more.

To each and everyone of you again I say, greetings, "mabuhay", and thank you.

SPEECH DELIVERED BY PRESIDENT MARCOS AT THE OPENING OF
THE 1966 ASIAN MINISTERS OF LABOR CONFERENCE HELD AT
THE SSS CONFERENCE HALL, MONDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1966.

Secretary Espinosa;

Distinguished delegates of this Asian labor conference;
Your Excellencies, Diplomats, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen:

It is my honor and distinct pleasure to be able to welcome you personally to the Republic of the Philippines which is honored by your presence and by your selection of Manila as the site of your conference.

I understand skepticism has been expressed over the results of this labor conference in Asia, inasmuch as Asia presents some of the gravest problems in manpower employment, which prevails all over the world. Asia, which has more than half of the world's population, certainly is beset by the similar problems of unemployment, of lack of development capital and lack of a systematic approach to the confusion that has arisen out of the sudden evolvement of independent countries in our part of the globe. But certainly I feel that Asia can contribute constructively to the problems of labor and to the systematic solution of the inadequacy in the employment of our human resources.

It has been said that Asia today, with its teeming millions of improverished, ignorant and diseased peoples, constitute the gravest threat to the peace of mankind. It has been said that as long as this problem of Asia and Africa remains unsolved, there will be no peace in the world. Therefore, the problems of labor and unemployment may well be the key to the peace of the world. I cannot, therefore, overstate the importance of your conference today. I can only hope and pray for the success of this gathering.

It has been said, and perhaps properly, that the Western world developed its technology and its present state of affluence through the exploitation of human resources. It has been said that the industrial revolution of the world has resulted in human wreckage. If this be so, your new mission and mine, the mission of the ministers of labor, is to establish the delicate balance between development and human welfare. For your countries and mine are countries lacking in the available capital resources and funds for development. It is a test of the statesmanship of all the ministers of labor to establish such a balance for their respective societies and their respective governments.

first for development, but not as an end; rather, economic development should be used ultimately as a tool for the reestablishment of social justice. At the same time, as we utilize our available capital resources for economic development, and ultimately for the attainment of social justice, let it not be forgotten that we must have welfare, too, jointly with economic development, and that we must have welfare and social justice without pricing ourselves out of international competition. We must have social justice without killing individual initiative.

This, too, is one of the gravest problems that you and I face. The administrator of government, as well as the statesman and the leader in labor, must study the complexities of such problems.

There is a new dimension in government all over the world today, and that is the establishment of the human factor in all kinds of development—political, social and economic the human factor that looks to the individual and individual dignity as the ultimate aim of all societies, the human factor that establishes the right and the capacity of man to develop his entire, available genius and strength in accordance with his own best efforts and energies. We must establish an industrial revolution without exploitation, it is true, but in establishing an industrial revolution without exploitation we must not destroy either the means by which we can attain such an industrial revolution.

We must tame the machines in order that we may not leave on the road of progress human wreckage that was the price paid in the past by the development of modern societies. I will not go into the different aspects of this problem which I am sure properly grasped in your able hands in this conference. Suffice it to say that in my country, in our country, the established assistance of social security and the system of welfare programs are aimed at recreating a new society.

In our country, as in yours, agriculture is the main source of livelihood of the great majority of our people; anywhere from 60 to 70 percent of our people earn their livelihood from this sector of our economy. On many an occasion, I had stated that many of our countries must look to agriculture first and its development in order to improve the living conditions of most of the people. But, ultimately and at last, the final objective must be a balanced agro-industrial economy—a balanced agro-industrial economy, for it is only industry, probably, that can absorb our unemployed, and our underemployed.

In the Philippines we have the strange spectacle of the family system absorbing the unemployed and underemployed of our country. Sociologists, political observers and economists have often asked me why, if there are so many unemployed in our country, why there is not a more palpable manifestation of this unemployment? And the answer is, the family system, the close family ties tend to make a built-in welfare service for the unemployed and the underemployed.

But before long, we must attend to the unemployed and the underemployed through a more systematic approach. Thus, we have established, I repeat, a social security and welfare program in the Philippines. The Social Security System, started in 1957, now covers about 1,500,000 workers. It is my hope that before long this will be doubled, and that before the end of my term, the system will cover about one-half of the entire labor force of the Philippines.

In the past several years, in meeting claims for death, old-age and illness benefits, the Social Security System has paid P250 million. Now, we are studying the possibility of social security, or insurance against unemployment. If these studies indicate a financial capability of the Social System to pay for unemployment, I shall immediately direct that unemployment be taken under the wing of the Social Security System of the Philippines.

I repeat, you and I are faced by the dilemma of growth. This dilemma is the choice between development and welfare. We all want to grow, we all want to progress. Economic development is a means by which we must progress. But economic development, I repeat, does not mean the adoption of mere technology, without humanity and without compassion. On the contrary, all efforts of man must be aimed at human welfare and this means compassion. It is therefore time for us to tame technology, tame the machines and utilize our manpower in such a way that we shall not only develop our economic system but develop a manpower that is alert, effective and certainly humane members of the human society.

This, then, is the new mission that you and I have. I repeat, we create our respective societies. However much you and I may differ in the approaches, in our ideologies sometimes, ultimately and at last, your aim and mine is the upliftment of all of humanity. But we must start. With our own peoples, and our own race. I shall start with mine. You start with yours. But in so attempting to solve our own national problems, you and I must gather in consultation, at conferences like this; and gathering, seek to establish a basis for such consultations in order that you and I may unite to attain this new dimension in our societies and in our efforts to honor the human factor in economic development.

I am certain that all the peoples of Asia look towards you, and perhaps all the peoples of the world will look towards you. I repeat, in the improvement of the living conditions of the laboring, teeming millions of Asia lies the peace of the world, and let no man in any manner mistake this as a presumption, or imposition upon any of the leaders of the world today. It is a statement of fact, which has been accepted by all thinkers and observers. With the teeming millions lies the key to peace, in the long run, of our world; and upon you lies the burden of establishing not only the confidence but also the effectiveness of the labor system in our respective societies.

So, I must say that if this be so—that ultimately the establishment of peace in the world lies on your shoulders, it is, indeed, a heavy burden for every minister of labor to carry. But I am sure that on your shoulders this burden will prove to be very light.

DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT

[No. L-19553. February 29, 1964]

JOSE V. RODRIGUEZ, ET AL., petitioners-appellants, vs. IGNACIO SANTOS DIAZ, ET AL., respondents-appellees.

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW; PRESIDENT'S AUTHORITY TO APPOINT INVESTIGATOR DESPITE LACK OF APPOINTING OR DISCIPLINING POWER WHERE PURPOSE IS MERELY FACT FINDING.—Where the investigation is not punitive but merely an inquiry into the matter which the President is entitled to know for his guidance in the enforcement of the laws, it is held that the President may authorize the appointment of an investigator of an acting general manager of a government corporation even if under the law the authority to appoint him and discipline him belongs to the board of directors of said corporation.

APPEAL from an order of the Court of First Instance of Manila. Soriano, J.

The facts are stated in the opinion of the Court.

Carag, Bravo & Associates for appellants.

Sol. Gen. A. A. Alafritz & Sol. C. D. Quiason for appellee.

BAUTISTA ANGELO, J.:

In an Administrative Order No. 4 issued by the President on January 30, 1962, the immediate investigation of the National Rice and Corn Corporation was ordered in order to determine the causes of the failure it has so far incurred in attaining its objectives which consist in developing and improving the rice and corn industries as well as promoting the social and economic conditions of those engaged therein, including the stabilization of the prices of rice and corn, and, pending such investigation, Jose V. Rodriguez, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Maximo Calalang, Conrado Estrella, and Ramon Enriquez, members, were suspended. To carry out the investigation, Ignacio Santos Diaz was appointed by Executive Secretary Amelito R. Mutuc as presidential investigator.

On February 10, 1962, certain administrative charges were additionally filed against the same Jose V. Rodriguez in his capacity as acting general manager of the same office, whereupon it was also ordered that they be investigated jointly with the matters involved in the above administrative order.

The investigation was set for hearing on February 23, 1962, on which occasion Rodriguez, et al. questioned the jurisdiction of investigator Ignacio Santos Diaz to conduct the investigation of the charges preferred against Rodriguez in his capacity as NARIC Acting General Manager for the reason that under the law the power to file charges against said manager belongs to the board of directors, and not to the President, which is not the case herein. But this objection was overruled by the special investigator who scheduled the continuation of the hearing on March 3, 1962.

Consequently, alleging that a joint investigation of Rodriguez, in his capacity as acting general manager, and Maximo Calalang and Ramon Enriquez, as members, would prejudice the latter as they will not be in a position to object to the introduction of any evidence that may be presented during the investigation, they filed the instant petition for prohibition with preliminary injunction before the Court of First Instance of Manila against Ignacio Santos Diaz, as presidential investigator, and Amelito R. Mutuc, as executive secretary, praying that they be restrained from proceeding with the administrative investigation, or from inquiring into the actuations of petitioner Rodriguez in his capacity as NARIC Acting General Manager because the same is beyond the jurisdiction of said respondents. They also asked that, pending the case, a writ of preliminary injunction be issued restraining respondents from proceeding with the investigation.

The court a quo ordered respondents to answer the petition setting at the same time the hearing of the petition for preliminary injunction. Respondents opposed the issuance of the writ, but manifested that they were going to move for reconsideration of the order requiring them to answer since after filing the answer they could no longer file a motion to dismiss. Thereupon, they filed a motion for reconsideration with the request that it be considered as a motion to dismiss.

In said motion, respondents alleged that the court a quo should not have given due course to the petition because it was not sufficient in substance, petitioners having failed to exhaust their available administrative remedies, besides the fact that petitioner Rodriguez was only an Acting General Manager of the NARIC who could be relieved anytime, as in fact he was considered relieved when another was appointed as general manager. In this connection, respondents filed a manifestation annexing thereto a certified true copy of the appointment of Jose Y. Feliciano as General Manager of the NARIC.

After petitioners had filed their opposition to the motion to dismiss, the court a quo dismissed the petition in an order dated March 13, 1962 stating therein that the motion for reconsideration was in order and the petition for preliminary injunction dismissed. Hence the present appeal.

On April 10, 1962, after the appeal was docketed in this Court, petitioners filed a manifestation informing this Court that the administrative investigation against them had terminated on April 5, 1962, thus rendering their petition academic, and so they prayed that their petition be considered one of certiorari to the end that the conducted administrative proceeding may be annulled insofar as it concerns the investigation of Jose V. Rodriguez in his capacity as acting general manager for lack of jurisdiction.

Administrative Order No. 4 of the President reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, it appears that the National Rice and Corn Corporation has failed to attain its objectives, namely, to develop and improve the rice and corn industries, to promote the social and economic conditions of those engaged therein, and to stabilize the prices of rice and corn;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, DIOSDADO MACAPAGAL, President of the Philippines, by virtue of the powers vested in me by law and pursuant to the provisions of Section 34 of Republic Act No. 2260, do hereby order an immediate investigation of the National Rice and Corn Corporation in order to determine the causes of said failure, particularly in regard to its inability to stabilize the prices of said prime commodities, and the responsibility therefore of the officials thereof; and pending such investigation, Dr. Jose V. Rodriguez, Chairman, Board of Directors, and Messrs. Maximo Calalang, Conrado Estrella and Ramon Enriquez, members of said Board, are hereby suspended from office."

The excerpt of the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors of the NARIC held on January 25, 1962 removing petitioner Jose V. Rodriguez reads as follows:

"The new Board of Directors of the Corporation in this initial meeting took up the directives of the President in his Executive Order of January 25, 1962, creating the President's Rice and Corn Committee, and after deliberating lengthily on the ways and means of implementing the instructions of the President as contained in the Executive Order referred hereto decided upon and approved the following:

1. Appointment of Jose Y. Feliciano as General Manager of the National Rice and Corn Corporation, vice Dr. Jose Rodriguez."

It should be noted that the petition does not question the authority of the President to investigate and suspend petitioner Jose V. Rodriguez as Chairman of the NARIC Board of Directors, nor of petitioners Maximo Calalang and Ramon Enriquez as members for they recognize that they come under the control and supervision of the President. Petitioners only question the investigation of certain actuations of petitioner Rodriguez in his capacity as Acting General Manager of the NARIC on the ground that under Section 9(a) of Republic Act 663 it is the board of directors that can appoint the general manager and under Section 6(b) of the same law it is only the board that can discipline him, so much so that the petition for prohibition only seeks to stop respondents from exercising administrative jurisdiction over said petitioner in his capacity as NARIC Acting General Manager.

Such being the only issue now before us the same would seem to be academic not only because the administrative investigation which petitioners seek to stop had already been terminated but because petitioner Jose V. Rodriguez has already been relieved of his position as Acting General Manager of the NARIC as a result of the appointment of Jose Y. Feliciano as general manager on January 26, 1962. Such appointment has the effect of removing petitioner automatically as acting general manager, for as this Court has held, an acting position is precarious and the holder thereof can be relieved of his position at any time without hearing and without cause by the appointing authority.¹

Moreover, petitioner cannot claim that his investigation as acting general manager is for the purpose of removing him as such for, having already been relieved, the obvious purpose of the investigation is merely to gather facts that may aid the President in finding out why the NARIC failed to attain its objectives, particularly in the stabilization of the prices of rice and corn. His investigation is, therefore, not punitive, but merely an inquiry into matters which the President is entitled to know so that he can be properly guided in the performance of his duties relative to the execution and enforcement of the laws of the land. In this sense, the President may authorize the appointment of an investigator of petitioner Rodriguez in his capacity as acting general manager even if under the law the authority to appoint him and discipline him belongs to the NARIC Board of Directors. The petition for prohibition, therefore, has no merit.

Wherefore, the order appealed from is affirmed. Costs against petitioners.

APPEAL from an order of the Court of First Instance of Rizal (Quezon City). Caluag, J.

The facts are stated in the opinion of the Court.

CONCEPCIÓN, J.:

The Director of the National Bureau of Investigation—hereinafter referred to as the Director—seeks the review of an order of the Court of First Instance of Rizal directing the return of fifty-one (51) slot machines, and the paraphernalia thereof, to the owners thereof. The appeal is before us only questions of law being raised therein.

It appears that sometime before September 1, 1959, said slot machines and paraphernalia were being operated by the owners thereof in Pasay City pursuant to licenses issued by said City in conformity with its Ordinance No. 106. On the date adverted to above, the aforementioned machines and paraphernalia, together with slot machines operated without said license, were seized under and by virtue of search warrants issued by a Judge of the Court of First Instance of Rizal. Said unlicensed slot machines were the subject matter of criminal cases Nos. 9571-1 and 9569-I of the Municipal Court of Pasay City. However, the special prosecutor in charge of said cases opined that no criminal cases should be filed against the owners of the fifty-one (51) slot machines involved in the case at bar, and, accordingly, recommended that said machines and its paraphernalia be released and returned to the owners thereof. As a consequence, on September 2, 1959, the Secretary of Justice ordered the Director to release said slot machines to their respective owners. However, this order was subsequently suspended, the Director having invited attention to the fact that the court which issued the search warrants adverted to above might punish him for contempt if he released the machines without judicial authority therefor. This led to the filing of a motion by the owners of said machines praying that the same be ordered released and returned to them.

The Director objected to the motion upon the ground that the machines in question are intended to be used for the commission of an offense (gambling), and are a public nuisance, as well as illegal per se. After due hearing, the lower court overruled this opposition and granted said motion. Hence this appeal.

The main issue therein is whether or not the aforementioned slot machines constitute a nuisance per se or will be devoted, if released, to some unlawful use. Appellant maintains that the answer should be in the affirmative, relying mainly upon the decision of this Court in Philips vs. Municipal Mayor (G. R. No. L-9183, promulgated May 30, 1959), in which we held that an ordinance of the municipality of Caloocan authorizing the operation of slot machines was illegal it being violative of section 2242(j) of the Revised Administrative Code imposing upon municipal councils the duty "to prohibit and penalize gambling."

The doctrine laid down in the Philips case is not in point, for Republic Act No. 183, which is the Charter of Pasay City (Section 16[n]), expressly authorizes its municipal board "to regulate and fix the amount of license fees for" inter alia "slot machines" a power not granted to the municipal council of Caloocan. It being conceded that the municipal board of Pasay City has passed Municipal Ordinance No. 106 (approved on June 26, 1957), fixing the amount of the license fees for the operation of slot machines, and that the owners of the slot machines in question have paid said fees and secured the corresponding licenses, it follows that the operation of said machines is neither illegal nor constitutes a nuisance. Needless to say:

"The mere possession of a slot machines or even its operation for amusement and not for profit does not constitute a crime." (38 CJS. 195, footnote 99 [i].)

"A slot machine is not a 'gambling devise' per se, because it can be operated legally as well as illegally." (Gen. Code No. 13066, Nader vs. State, Ohio Supp. 287.)

WHEREFORE, the order appealed from is hereby affirmed, without special pronouncement as to costs.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

RESOLUTION ON MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

1. CRIMINAL LAW; GAMBLING; SLOT MACHINES NOT ILLEGAL "PER SE"; NO REVERSAL OF RULING IN UY HA CASE.—The ruling in the case at bar that slot machines are not illegal per se does not reverse the ruling in the case of Uy Ha vs. City of Manila (L-14149, May 30, 1960) because in the latter case there was an ordinance prohibiting the operation of slot machines whereas in the case at bar the ordinance expressly authorizes the operation of the slot machines in question. Moreover, in the Uy Ha case the Court quoted with approval the view that a slot machines is not per se a gambling device.
2. ID.; ID.; ID.; NECESSITY OF CRIMINAL PROCEEDING TO ESTABLISH CRIMINAL USE OF ARTICLE.—Articles, like slot machines in the case at bar, which may or may not be used for legal purposes, cannot be seized until it has first been established that the articles were procured, held or used for an illegal purpose, and in order to establish that the article was designed to be put, or has been put, to an illegal use, there must be a proceeding in a court of criminal jurisdiction.
3. ID.; ID.; OPERATION OF SLOT MACHINES ONLY ILLEGAL WHEN PROHIBITED BY STATUTE; NO LAW PUNISHES POSSESSION OF SLOT MACHINES.—The operation of slot machines is illegal not per se, but only if and when prohibited by statute. However, neither the Revised Penal Code nor any other law punishes the possession of slot machines of any kind whatsoever.

CONCEPCION, J.:

Appellant seeks a reconsideration of the decision of this Court in the above-entitled case upon the ground that the ruling therein made is a complete reversal of the view taken in Uy Ha vs. City of Manila (L-14149, May 30, 1960); that the slot machines in question are gambling devices the operation of which constitutes a violation of Article 195 of the Revised Penal Code punishing gambling; and that said slot machines are illegal per se.

Appellant's contention is untenable inasmuch as:

1. The case of Uy Ha vs. City of Manila (L-14149, May 30, 1960), relied upon by appellant, does not support his pretense for:

(a) In the case cited there was an ordinance in effect prohibiting "the installation and/or operation of * * * 'pinball' machines", the legality of which ordinance was contested by Uy Ha, but upheld by the Court, as a valid exercise of the authority of the City of Manila, under the general welfare clause found in its charter, whereas the ordinance involved in the case at bar expressly authorizes the operation of the slot machines in question;

(b) In the Uy Ha case this Court quoted with approval the view that "a slot machines is not per se a gambling device, since it may be used and played upon for innocent purposes" and that the "use to which it is put must determine its character", as set forth in Heartley vs. State (157 S.W. 2nd 1, 178 Tenn. 354), applying the doctrine laid down in Ex parte Overby (279 P. 523, 524, 43 Okl. Cr. 400, 39 Words and Phrases, p. 519);

2. In Philips vs. Municipal Mayor (G. R. No. L-9183, May 30, 1959), cited in appellant's brief, there was evidence regarding the nature of the slot machines involved therein as gambling devices; but no such evidence has been introduced or sought to be introduced in the case at bar. In Soper vs. Michal (123 Md. 542, 91 Atl. 684, LRA 1915A 232), it was held, reiterating the view expressed in Wagner vs. Upshur (95 Md. 519, 52 Atl. 509, 93 Am. St. Rep. 412), "that articles or property that may or may not be used for legal purposes cannot be seized until it has first been established that the article was procured, held or used for an illegal purpose" and "that in order to establish that the article was designed to be put or has been put, to an illegal use, there must be a proceeding in a court of criminal jurisdiction * * *."

3. No such proceeding has taken place in connection with the slot machines involved in the present case. Worse still, no such proceeding is seemingly contemplated to be instituted in relation thereto. Although appellant maintains that the operation of said slot machines constitutes a crime:

(a) The special prosecutor of the Department of Justice in charge of the case is the lower court declined to file any information against the owners and/or operators of said slot machines, upon the theory that they had committed no criminal offense, and, accordingly, recommended that said machines be released and returned to its owners;

(b) Acting favorably upon this recommendation, the Secretary of Justice, in his letter to appellant herein, dated September 2, 1959, ordered him to return said machines "no criminal case having been filed in connection with their possession and operation" and "inasmuch as no further action is contemplated by this Office or any prosecuting agency in connection with them";

(c) Although this order was suspended upon the suggestion of appellant herein, to forestall any possible liability for contempt of court—should the release be made without express authority of the court that issued the search warrant pursuant to which said slot machines had been seized—it would seem clear that the Department of Justice still intends to file no action against the owners of said machines, for no such action has been instituted despite the lapse of about five (5) years since the seizure took place, on June 3, 1959, notwithstanding the request, made by counsel for the owners of said machines, in a letter to the Secretary of Justice dated July 5, 1959, to the effect "that the NBI officers concerned should be directed to act promptly—either to return the properties to their owners or to institute such action which they may deem proper—in order that the owners will have the opportunity to protect their rights and obtain redress of the wrong done against them;"

4. Appellant would have the court order, in effect, the forfeiture or confiscation of the slot machines in question without a proceeding appropriate therefor. In Woods vs. Cottrell (55 W. Va. 476, 47 SE 275, 65 LRA 616, 104 Am. St. Rep. 1004, 2 Ann. Cas. 933), the Court had the following to say:

" * * We think that whether the machines shall be burnt or released depends on whether the accused is guilty. If not guilty, he is not himself to be punished, neither is the machines to be burnt, and as only the trial court can determine his guilt, so only it can condemn the machine to be burnt. If the party is guilty, destruction of the machine follows the ascertainment of his guilt; if acquitted, judgment of restitution to him of his property follows. Though the thing be plainly an instrument of gambling under the statute, yet if its owner be acquitted of using it for the purpose, it cannot be destroyed as it is only instruments actually used and kept for gambling that are thus condemned to destruction." (Italics ours.)*

In Church vs. Goodnough (14 F. [2d] 432, 434), it was held:

"When the goods seized are not in themselves subject to condemnation except when intended or used for illegal purposes, judicial proceedings for forfeiture, which shall give notice to claimants and afford them an opportunity to show that condemnation is not justified, seem necessary for due process of law." (Italics ours.)

To the same effect is Robenson vs. Inches (220 Mich 490, 190 MW 227, 228) from which we quote:

" * * while the officers had a right to seize the money to be used as evidence, it was their plain duty to return it when com-* plaint was neither made nor contemplated." (Citing Newberry vs. Carpenter, 107 Mich. 573, 65 N.W. 530, 31 L.R.A. 163, 61 Am. St. Rep. 346, Taylor vs. Circuit Judge, 209 Mich. 101, 176 N.W. 550, and sections 15880-15883, Comp. Law 1915.) (Italics ours.)

5. Although the operation of slot machines in the Philippines may—under certain conditions, the existence of which has not been established in the case at bar—constitute gambling, the latter is illegal not per se, but only if and when prohibited by statute;

6. There can be no doubt but that, under the theory of preventive justice, the state may by law prohibit and punish such things as it may deem inimical to the common good, such as lottery lists, tickets and advertisements, and papers and other matters containing letters, figures, signs or symbols which pertain to or are in any manner used in the game of jueteng or any similar game, as well as instruments or implements intended to be used in the commission of the offenses of counterfeiting or falsification, the possession of which is punished in the Revised Penal Code (Articles 176, 195 [c] and 196), but neither said Code nor any other law punishes the possession of slot machines of any kind whatsoever. Thus, in Mullen vs. Mosely (12 L.R.A. [N] 394), State vs. Soucie's Hotel (95 Mo. 518, 50 Atl. 709, and Police Commissioner vs. Wagner (93 Md. 182, 48 A 455, 52 L.R.A. 775, 86 Am. St. Rep. 423)—cited in petitioner's brief—the theory of preventive justice was applied to justify the summary abatement of the objects involved therein, as authorized by a statute declaring said objects noxious per se. Upon the other hand, in McConnell vs. McKillip (99 N.W. 505), involving the seizure by a game warden of three (3) shotguns used in hunting chicken in violation of the game law, which provided for the forfeiture of said guns to the state, it was held that such forfeiture may take place only upon conviction of the user of the guns, and that otherwise he was entitled to recover the latter in an action for replevin; and

7. If appellant still believes, as he claims, that the operation of the slot machines in question is violative of a criminal law, his remedy is obvious—to make proper representations with the Department of Justice, the views of which thereon are binding upon him (Sections 97 [c] and 83, Revised Administrative Code), for the filing of the corresponding informations by officers of said Department.

WHEREFORE, the motion for reconsideration is hereby denied.

CEBU PORTLAND CEMENT COMPANY, petitioner, vs. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION COMMISSION and ULDARICO DE LOS REYES, respondents.

1. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION; MEDICAL EXPENSES FOR WORK-CONNECTED ILLNESS; NO MAXIMUM AMOUNT OR TIME PERIOD.—The Workmen's Compensation Law, in imposing on the employer the obligation to provide medical attendance to an injured or sick employee, unlike those provisions relating to compensation for disability, does not provide a maximum either in the amount to be paid or the time period within which such right may be availed of by the employee. Consequently, in the case at bar, despite payment made by the company for disability benefits and medical expenses as awarded by the Commission in 1958, the company is still liable for medical expenses incurred by the said employee thereafter on account of further necessary treatment of his work connected ailment until said sickness ceases.

BARRERA, J.:

Uldarico de los Reyes filed in the Regional Office of the Department of Labor, a notice of injury or sickness and claim for compensation, against the Cebu Portland Cement Co., claiming that by reason of the nature of his work therein, he contracted pulmonary tuberculosis; that the company was informed of such illness through its company physician, that as a result he was retired from the service and was given a gratuity pay of P200.00

In due time, the Cebu Portland Cement filed an employer's report controverting such claim.

After due hearing, a decision was rendered by the Hearing Officer dated May 26, 1959, finding that claimant first entered employment on August 24, 1948 as auditing clerk at P4.00 a day; that before being allowed to work, he was examined by the company physician, and in the Quezon Institute, and was found physically fit; that as checker, he counted the sacks of cement brought in and out of the company's bodega at North Harbor and Baraca; that he had to do his job outside even when it was raining; that it was only at the latter period of his employment

INTRODUCTION

1. In response to an invitation from the President of the Republic of the Philippines, after consultations with the President of the Republic of Korea and the Prime Ministers of Thailand and the Republic of Viet-Nam, the leaders of seven nations in the Asian and Pacific region held in summit conference in Manila on October 24 and 25, 1966 to consider the conflict in South Viet-Nam and to review their wider purposes in Asia and the Pacific. The participants were Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia, President Park Chung Hee of the Republic of Korea, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines, Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand, President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States of America, and Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao ky of the Republic of Viet-Nam.

BASIC POLICY

2. The nations represented at this conference are united in their determination that the freedom of the Republic of Viet-Nam be secured, in their resolve for peace, and in their deep concern for the future of Asia and the Pacific. Some of us are now close to the actual danger, while others have learned to know its significance through bitter past experience. This conference symbolizes our common purposes and high hopes.

3. We are united in our determination that the Vietnamese people shall not be conquered by aggressive force and shall enjoy the inherent right to choose their own way of life and their own form of government. We shall continue our military and all other efforts, as firmly and as long as may be necessary, in close consultation among ourselves until the aggression is ended.

4. At the same time our united purpose is peace—peace in South Viet-Nam and in the rest of Asia and the Pacific. Our common commitment is to the defense of the Vietnamese people. Our sole demand on the leaders of North Viet-Nam is that they abandon their aggression. We are prepared to pursue any avenue which could lead to a secure and just peace, whether through discussion and negotiation or through reciprocal actions by both sides to reduce the violence.

5. We are united in looking to a peaceful and prosperous future for all of Asia and the Pacific. We have therefore set forth in a separate declaration a statement of the principles that guide our common actions in this wider sphere.

6. Actions taken in pursuance of the policies herein stated shall be in accordance with our respective constitutional processes.

PROGRESS AND PROGRAMS IN SOUTH VIET-NAM THE MILITARY EFFORT

7. The Government of Viet-Nam described the significant military progress being made against aggression. It noted with particular gratitude the substantial contribution being made by free world forces.

8. Nonetheless, the leaders noted that the movement of forces from North Viet-Nam continues at a high rate and that firm military action and free world support continue to be required to meet the threat. The necessity for such military action and support must depend for its size and duration on the intensity and duration of the Communist aggression itself.

9. In their discussion, the leaders reviewed the problem of prisoners of war. The participants observed that Hanoi has consistently refused to cooperate with the International Committee or the Red Cross in the application of the Geneva Conventions, and called on Hanoi to do so. They reaffirmed their determination to comply fully with the Geneva Conventions of 1949 for the Protection of War Victims, and welcomed the resolution adopted by the Executive Committee of the League of Red Cross Societies on October 8, 1966, calling for compliance with the Geneva Conventions in the Viet-Nam conflict, full support for the International Committee of the Red Cross, and immediate action to repatriate seriously sick and wounded prisoners of war. They agreed to work toward the fulfillment of this resolution, in cooperation with the International Committee of the Red Cross, and indicated their willingness to meet under the auspices of the ICRC or in any appropriate forum to discuss the immediate exchange of prisoners.

PACIFICATION AND REVOLUTIONARY DEVELOPMENT

10. The participating governments concentrated particular attention on the accelerating efforts of the Government of Viet-Nam to forge a social revolution of hope and progress. Even as the conflict continues, the effort goes forward to overcome the tyranny of poverty, disease, illiteracy and social injustice.

11. The Vietnamese leaders stated their intent to train and assign a substantial share of the armed forces a clear-and-hold actions in order to provide a shield behind which a new society can be built.

12. In the field of Revolutionary Development, measures along the lines developed in the past year and a half will be expanded and intensified. The training of Revolutionary Development cadres will be improved. More electricity and good water will be provided. More and better schools will be built and staffed. Refugees will be taught new skills. Health and medical facilities will be expanded.

13. The Vietnamese Government declared that it is working out a series of measures to modernize agriculture and to assure the cultivator the fruits of his labor. Land reform and tenure provisions will be granted top priority. Agricultural credit will be expanded. Crops will be improved and diversified.

14. The Vietnamese leaders emphasized that underlying these measures to build confidence and cooperation among the people there must be popular conviction that honesty, efficiency and social justice form solid cornerstones of the Vietnamese Government's programs.

15. This is a program each of the conferring governments has reason to applaud recognizing that it opens a brighter hope for the people of Viet-Nam. Each pledged its continuing assistance according to its means, whether in funds or skilled technicians or equipment. They noted also the help in non-military fields given by other countries and expressed the hope that this help will be substantially increased.

ECONOMIC STABILITY AND PROGRESS

16. The Conference was told of the success of the government of the Viet-Nam in controlling the inflation which, if unchecked, could undercut all efforts to bring a more fulfilling life to the Vietnamese people. However, the Vietnamese leaders reaffirmed that only by constant effort could inflation be kept under control. They described their intention to enforce vigorous stabilization program, to control spending, increase revenues, and seek to promote savings in order to hold the 1967 inflationary gap to the minimum practicable level. They also plan to take further measures to insure maximum utilization of the Port of Saigon, so that imports urgently needed to fuel the military effort and buttress the civil economy can flow rapidly into Viet-Nam.

17. Looking to the long-term future of their richly endowed country, the Vietnamese representatives described their views and plans for the building of an expanded post-war economy.

18. Military installations where appropriate will be converted to this purpose, and plans for this will be included.

19. The conferring nations reaffirmed their continuing support for Vietnamese efforts to achieve economic stability and progress. Thailand specifically noted its readiness to extend substantial new credit assistance for the purchase of rice and the other nations present reported a number of plans for the supply of food or other actions related to the economic situation. At the same time, the participants agreed to appeal to other nations and to international organizations committed to the full and free development of every nation, for further assistance to the Republic of Viet-Nam.

POLITICAL EVOLUTION

20. The representatives of Viet-Nam noted that, even as the conference met, steps were being taken to establish a new constitutional system for the Republic of Viet-Nam through the work of the Constituent Assembly, chosen by so large a proportion of the electorate last month.

21. The Vietnamese representatives stated their expectation that work on the Constitution would go forward rapidly and could be completed before the deadline of March 1967. The Constitution will then be promulgated and elections will be held within six months to select a representative government.

22. The Vietnamese government believes that the democratic process must be strengthened at the local as well as the national level. The Government of Viet-Nam announced that to this end it will begin holding village and hamlet elections at the beginning of 1967.

23. The Government of Viet-Nam announced that it is preparing a program of National Reconciliation. It declared its determination to open all doors to those Vietnamese who have been misled or coerced into casting their lot with the Viet Cong. The Government seeks to bring them back to participate as free men in national life under amnesty and other measures. Former enemies are asked only to lay down their weapons and bring their skills to the service of the Vietnamese people.

24. The other participating nations welcomed the stated expectation of the Vietnamese representatives that work on the Constitution will proceed on schedule, and concurred in the conviction of the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam that building representative, constitutional government and opening the way for national reconciliation are indispensable to the future of a free Viet-Nam.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

25. The Participants devoted a major share of their deliberations to peace objectives and the search for a peaceful settlement in South Viet-Nam. They reviewed in detail the many efforts for peace that have been undertaken, by themselves and other nations, and the actions of the United Nations and of His Holiness the Pope. It was clearly understood that the settlement of the war in Viet-Nam depends on the readiness and willingness of the parties concerned to explore and work out together a just and reasonable solution. They noted that Hanoi still showed no sign of taking any step toward peace, either by action or by entering into discussions or negotiations. Nevertheless the participants agreed that the search for peace must continue.

26. The Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam declared that the Vietnamese people, having suffered the ravages of war for more than two decades, were second to none in their desire for peace. It welcomes any initiative that will lead to an end to hostilities, preserves the independence of South Viet-Nam and protect the right to choose their own way of life.

27. So that their aspirations and position would be clear to their allies at Manila and friends everywhere, the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam solemnly stated its views as to the essential elements of peace in Viet-Nam:

(1) Cessation of Aggression.—At issue in Viet-Nam is a struggle for the preservation of values which people everywhere have cherished since the dawn of history: the independence of peoples and the freedom of individuals. The people of South Viet-Nam ask only that the aggression that threatens their independence and the externally supported terror that threatens their freedom be halted. No self-respecting people can ask for less. No peace-loving nation should ask for more.

(2) Preservation of the Territorial Integrity of South Viet-Nam.—The people of South Viet-Nam are defending their own territory against those seeking to obtain by force and terror what they have been unable to accomplish by peaceful means. While sympathizing with the plight of their brothers in the North and while disdaining the regime in the North, the South Vietnamese people have no desire to threaten or harm the people of the North or invade their country.

(3) Reunification of Viet-Nam.—The government and people of South Viet-Nam deplore the partition of Viet-Nam into North and South. But this partition brought about by the Geneva Agreements of 1954, however unfortunate and regrettable, will be respected until, by the free choice of all Vietnamese, reunification is achieved.

(4) Resolution of Internal Problems.—The people of South Viet-Nam seek to resolve their own internal differences and to this end are prepared to engage in a program of national reconciliation. When the aggression has stopped, the people of South Viet-Nam will move more rapidly toward reconciliation of all elements in the society and will move forward, through the democratic process, toward human dignity, prosperity and lasting peace.

(5) Removal of Allied Military Forces.—The people of the Republic of Viet-Nam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Viet-Nam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides.

(6) Effective Guarantees.—The people of South Viet-Nam mindful of their experience since 1954, insist that any negotiations leading to the end of hostilities incorporate effective international guarantees. They are open-minded as such guarantees can be applied and made effective.

28. The other participating governments reviewed and endorsed these as essential elements of peace and agreed they would act on this basis in close consultation among themselves in regard to settlement of the conflict.

29. In particular, they declared that Allied forces are in the Republic of Viet-Nam because that country is the object of aggression and its government requested support in the resistance of its people to aggression. They shall be withdrawn, after close consultation, as the other side withdraws its forces to the North, ceases infiltration, and the level of violence thus subsides. Those forces will be withdrawn as soon as possible and not later than six months after the above conditions have been fulfilled.

CONTINUING CONSULTATION AMONG THE PARTICIPATING NATIONS

30. All the participants agreed that the value of a meeting among the seven nations had been abundantly demonstrated by the candid and thorough discussions held. It was further agreed that, in addition to the close consultation already maintained through diplomatic channels, there should be regular meetings among their Ambassadors in Saigon in association with the Government of the Republic of Viet-Nam. Meetings of their Foreign Ministers and Heads of Government will also be held as required.

31. At the close of the meeting, all the visiting participants expressed their deep gratitude to President Marcos and to the Government of the Republic of the Philippines for offering Manila as the conference site, and expressed their appreciation for the highly efficient arrangements.

DECLARATION OF PEACE AND PROGRESS IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

We, the leaders of the Seven Nations gathered in Manila:
Desiring peace and progress in the Asian-Pacific region;
Having faith in the purposes and principles of the United Nations which call for the suppression of acts of aggression and respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples;

Determined that aggression should not be rewarded;

Respecting the right of all peoples to choose and maintain their own forms of government;

Seeking a peaceful settlement of the war in Viet-Nam;
and

Being greatly encouraged by the growing regional understanding and regional cooperation among the free nations of Asia and the Pacific

Hereby proclaim this declaration of principles on which we base our hopes for future peace and progress in the Asian and Pacific region:

I. Aggression must not succeed.

The peace and security of Asia and the Pacific and, indeed, of the entire world, are indivisible. The nations of the Asian and Pacific region shall enjoy their independence and sovereignty free from aggression, outside interference, or the domination of any nation. Accepting the hard-won lessons of history that successful aggression anywhere endangers the peace, we are determined to fulfill our several commitments under the United Nations Charter and various mutual security treaties so that aggression in the region of Asia and the Pacific shall not succeed.

II. We must break the bonds of poverty, illiteracy and disease.

In the region of Asia and the Pacific, where there is a rich heritage of intrinsic worth and dignity of every man, we recognize the responsibility of every nation to join in an expanding offensive against poverty, illiteracy and disease. For these bind men to lives of hopelessness and despair; these are the roots of violence and war. It is when men know that progress is possible and is being achieved, when they are convinced that their children will lead better, fuller, richer lives that men lift up their heads in the hope and pride. Only thus can there be lasting national stability and internal order.

III. We must strengthen economic, social and cultural cooperation within the Asian and Pacific region.

Together with our other partners of Asia and the Pacific, we will develop the institutions and practice of regional cooperation. Through sustained effort we aim to build in this vast area, where almost two-thirds of humanity live, a region of security and order and progress, realizing its common destiny in the light of its own traditions and aspirations. The peoples of this region have the right as well as the primary responsibility to deal with their own problems and to shape their own future in terms of their own wisdom and experience. Economic and cultural cooperation for regional development should be open to all countries in the region, irrespective of creed or ideology, which genuinely follow a policy of peace and harmony among all nations. Nations outside the region will be welcomed as partners working for the common benefit and their cooperation will be sought in forms consonant with the independence and dignity of the Asian and Pacific nations.

A peaceful and progressive Asia, in which nations are able to work together for the common good, will be a major factor in establishing peace and prosperity throughout the world and improving the prospects of international cooperation and a better life for all mankind.

IV. We must seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia.

We do not threaten the sovereignty or territorial integrity of our neighbors, whatever their ideological alignment. We ask only that this be reciprocated. The quarrels and ambitions of ideology and the painful frictions arising from national fears and grievances, should belong to the past. Aggression rooted in them must not succeed. We shall play our full part in creating an environment in which reconciliation becomes possible, for in the modern world men and nations have no choice but to learn to live together as brothers.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT MARCOS ON THE OPENING DAY OF THE
24, 1966.

As chairman of the Manila Summit Conference of 1966, it is my pleasure to assume this position by the unanimous consent and approval of the members of this conference.

I extend my thanks and the gratitude of my people to the Prime Minister of New Zealand for his generous remarks and to the other members of this conference for their unanimity.

I greet the heads of state and the heads of government who are here as our guests, their ladies, the foreign and other ministers, the distinguished guests and our friends.

For the times are historic and today is a historic day. Perhaps many of us may have missed it, but today is the anniversary of the United Nations Organization, an organization to which humanity clings its hopes for universal brotherhood, for stability and lasting security for all mankind.

But since the beginning of time, the wisest of men had sought to solve the riddle of peace and failed. And so even today, as if mankind drifts in the sea of inertia, man has problems that are sought to be solved with old solutions, and novel questions are answered with ancient formulas. Man who has mastered the firmament and solved the riddle of the atom still seems to grovel at the feet of his ancient enemies—war, hunger, disease. Man, the master and the king of all creation, is still a slave of his own heritage.

For is it not a paradox that in a world of plenty there is want, in a world of science there is disease, in a world of understanding there is war?

So, today, the seven nations here gathered have come to raise their voices for more food for the needy, for enlightenment for the illiterate and for the cure of the sick, as well as for peace in this world.

Seven nations have come to this ancient capital of our nation, with only one thought in mind, and that is, that on Asian initiatives, we seek to lay the basis for the solution of Asian problems.

This historic occasion is indeed the first meeting of the seven nations in Asia, called upon the suggestion of Asian nations. Today is the first attempt of Asia to initiate such a gathering not only to seek to terminate an existing conflict but to establish understanding amongst men. And at the same time, to arrive at a re-assertion of the ideal and the principle for which humanity may best be remembered in our century, and that is, the acceptance of international responsibility for the entire human family.

For from Asia has come and will come, if not aborted, the gravest threat to mankind. The chronicle of the annals of man may well seek in vain for any other parallel in history. For this indeed is an occasion in which we seek to advance the frontiers of nobility.

On behalf of my people, therefore, I extend warm and affectionate welcome to each and everyone of the heads of government and heads of state who are here.

I greet President Park Chung Hee of the Republic of Korea.

I greet Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand.

I greet Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu of the Republic of Vietnam.

I greet Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of the Republic of Vietnam.

I greet Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia.

I greet Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand.

And I greet President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States of America.

We extend welcome to the members of their delegations, and especially to the fair ladies who are here in this gathering.

The presence here alone of the heads of government and the heads of state is to me a great achievement. That we may meet and seek common council is to me a step forward as we advance the frontiers of human nobility, and that the greatest nation on earth, the United States of America, has come upon the invitation of the Asian nations, not only to advance the cause of peace but to raise her voice in order that there may be stability in our part of the world; that we may meet the problem of hunger, disease and ignorance which is the cause of discontent; this to me is a tribute to American sincerity and the validity of Asian aims.

The whole world realizes the almost insurmountable obstacles in your respective countries that could have prevented your coming here or could have been utilized as an excuse, a valid excuse for non-attendance. It is, therefore, fitting that I point out that the presence here of President Johnson is eloquent proof of a momentous factor in the world situations, and that is the generous acceptance of the United States, its enlightened decision to accept its share and participation in the establishment of stability and security in Asia.

For this, Asia thanks the President of the United States of America.

For he has come as he has well said: to listen, to participate, to cooperate. And he has come to expose himself to Asian feelings and Asian thoughts and Asian aims. And this indeed establishes the fact that it wishes to play a constructive role in Asia today as it turns its face towards this area of deprivation.

The participation of the Prime Ministers of Australia and New Zealand must be noted. For it constitutes a hopeful augury. They are our neighbors by the accidents of geography, but our own brothers, allies, and partners by their own deliberate choice. Developed more than other Asian countries, they are as deeply committed to the freedom and prosperity of Asia and we know that they offer great contributions to the noble objectives of this conference.

The presence here of Chairman Nguyen Van Thieu and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of Vietnam, President Park Chung Hee of Korea, as well as Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand certainly indicates the confluence of the vital interests in this conference of the nations that border the Pacific and the Chinese mainland, the area and region which today is the most sensitive and the most important in the eyes of observers of the international scene.

Thailand, South Vietnam, Korea, and the Philippines have suggested that this meeting be called. And it has been agreed that this was the proper forum in which to discuss a common stand on the bitter conflict that now rages in Vietnam. We have been drawn together by the council of faith and hope. And if our will is strong and we dedicate all our resources to this purpose, we will succeed.

The attention of the world is focused upon us, the skeptics as well as the believers. But the men of goodwill of this world pray that we shall be able to raise the conference to the summit not only of hope but also of probability and achievement.

This council must be a council that shall attain better understanding. It must be a council that shall present a plan for a better and more prosperous Asia. It must be a council that shall seek food for the needy and hungry, that it shall establish and fashion a plan for education for the ignorant and illiterate. It must be a council that shall seek the causes of war and attempt to eradicate them. Thus, this council shall be known in history as a council of peace and not a council of war.

For the peoples of Asia have borne the deadly, crushing weight of deprivation for centuries. And in the uncountable millions of heart not only in Asia but all over the world, there is a unifying reason, there is the deep tender yearning for a little more stability and a little more comfort and food.

The world needs peace. But if Asia must be saved, we must establish peace in Asia. Asian nations have had a surfeit of violence and war. Their deepest longing is not only for security and stability. Their deepest longing is to be able to work without any threat of reprisal, to sleep without any fear of death, to care for their young without any fear of separation, and over and above all, to be able to choose their own kind of government and their own kind of society.

But on the other hand, the peace that Asia seeks is not the peace of betrayal nor of death. It is a peace that would allow an option to each and every country, whether Asia or not, to choose its own form of society, an option to freedom and liberty, the liberty and freedom that will allow the full development of God endowed faculties to each and every man.

Understanding will come not as a victory of one side of a conflict but as a victory for all, in which all humanity can share, and this is the dream that we seek. Thus, the objectives of this conference are those that have been set.

Vietnam, Korea, Thailand and the Philippines have suggested this conference as perhaps the first painful step that we must take in order to attain the dream that I speak of. Before we can realize negotiations with the Communists, it is necessary that the allies of South Vietnam and South Vietnam itself come together and adopt a common stand. It is necessary that the seven nations in Vietnam fashion a plan for the development of Asia that shall eradicate the causes of war not only in Vietnam, not only in Asia, but throughout the world.

We extend a hand conciliation across the China Sea from this coastal city to North Vietnam. But it should respond and it should respond not with the usual spate of slander but with some manifestation of goodwill. The good faith of the nations here has been manifested by the fact that we have not waited for such response from the enemy to start these deliberations.

The conference shall proceed in disregard of invectives from our detractors, nor of the sarcasm of our detractors. We shall proceed and seek to attain these noble objectives that we have set for ourselves. We hope that this conference shall present a general disarmament plan for the development of all of Asia and all the countries of Asia.

We hope that in any gathering that involves Asia, Asia shall be consulted. For there is a fresh new wind that sweeps over the face of Asia; its peoples are more perceptive, its leaders are more dedicated, passionately, to the interest of their people; and Asia can no longer accept western formulas without questioning or participation. Asia hopes that it shall be given participation in the determination of its own destiny.

The Asian Development Bank now rises to my mind and reminds me that perhaps the charter of this bank may well be the Magna Carta of Asian prosperity and stability. If we unite behind this idea, the Asian Development Bank may well be the beginning of a new and prosperous Asia. It may well illuminate the causes of war. It may well be the starting point for the eradication of the causes of war. It may well exterminate such causes and ultimately bring about only the prosperity of Asia but also the stability of the entire world.

However, experience has taught us that the pursuit of goodwill is a long and tedious process. This conference is but the beginning of such a process. Realities also compel us and caution us to understand that miracles cannot be attained within the short span of these two days of conference. However, the stakes in Vietnam go beyond Vietnam, go beyond Asia, into the world and, therefore, we must persist upon this search for universal brotherhood.

And if we shall be able to fashion a plan to illumine these causes of war and bring to the attention of all the nations and peoples of the world such causes, we shall move forward towards the ideal of universal brotherhood.

So, today we are here to seek a new summit in the world's aspiration for a life without war. No conference of heads of state has set a more noble vision nor a more urgent one. Let the historians, therefore, record that we have gathered here to meet this challenge and that we have done our share in the pursuit of the ideal of a universal brotherhood. The skeptics and the fatalists know not the agony in Asia but we do. And so gathering all our strength even as against a world of discouragement, we shall accept the odium and the stigma that our detractors would seek to attach to this pursuit of universal brotherhood. And doing so, we can only say that no man quiet his conscience unless he pursues with vigor every opening and opportunity that is granted him as an avenue for the attainment of peace.

And so today, let the historians also record that with a prayer in our hearts we come to articulate the vague, groping yearnings of the mute, silent and suffering multitudes of the earth; the multitudes that do not participate in grave decisions, perhaps have no interest in the causes of conflicts but still must suffer the casualties of war. For these multitudes, we come to offer and will offer the best that is in us, all that we can muster of human courage, human wisdom, human resourcefulness, human ingenuity, human love, human compassion; and beyond this, no mortal on earth can offer more.

To each and everyone of you again I say, greetings, "mabuhay", and thank you.

SPEECH DELIVERED BY PRESIDENT MARCOS AT THE OPENING OF
THE 1966 ASIAN MINISTERS OF LABOR CONFERENCE HELD AT
THE SSS CONFERENCE HALL, MONDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1966.

Secretary Espinosa;

Distinguished delegates of this Asian labor conference;
Your Excellencies, Diplomats, distinguished guests, ladies
and gentlemen:

It is my honor and distinct pleasure to be able to welcome you personally to the Republic of the Philippines which is honored by your presence and by your selection of Manila as the site of your conference.

I understand skepticism has been expressed over the results of this labor conference in Asia, inasmuch as Asia presents some of the gravest problems in manpower employment, which prevails all over the world. Asia, which has more than half of the world's population, certainly is beset by the similar problems of unemployment, of lack of development capital and lack of a systematic approach to the confusion that has arisen out of the sudden evolvement of independent countries in our part of the globe. But certainly I feel that Asia can contribute constructively to the problems of labor and to the systematic solution of the inadequacy in the employment of our human resources.

It has been said that Asia today, with its teeming millions of improverished, ignorant and diseased peoples, constitute the gravest threat to the peace of mankind. It has been said that as long as this problem of Asia and Africa remains unsolved, there will be no peace in the world. Therefore, the problems of labor and unemployment may well be the key to the peace of the world. I cannot, therefore, overstate the importance of your conference today. I can only hope and pray for the success of this gathering.

It has been said, and perhaps properly, that the Western world developed its technology and its present state of affluence through the exploitation of human resources. It has been said that the industrial revolution of the world has resulted in human wreckage. If this be so, your new mission and mine, the mission of the ministers of labor, is to establish the delicate balance between development and human welfare. For your countries and mine are countries lacking in the available capital resources and funds for development. It is a test of the statesmanship of all the ministers of labor to establish such a balance for their respective societies and their respective governments.

In our respective societies, we may discover that all the available funds that we may have should be utilized

cerning the relations between Guillermo Baron and Maria Aguas prior to the appellant's birth. Correctly, under the Spanish Civil Code, evidence of this specie was inadmissible because investigation into the paternity of a natural child was barred. (Vide: Article 5, Law of Bases of May 11, 1888; Articles 135 and 141, Spanish Civil Code; Infante vs. Figueras, 4 Phil., 738, 740-745; Buenaventura vs. Urbano, et al., 5 Phil., 1, 8). Apparently, the appellees failed to consider that under the Civil Code of the Philippines, during the regime of which the present case was tried, the principle of free investigation of paternity was adopted. Since this innovation is but a rule of evidence which, by the precepts of statutory construction, applies to cases pending at the time of its inauguration—as indeed it is made retroactive to cover pending cases by the express mandate of Article 2266 of said new Civil Code—it follows that the doctrine relied upon by the appellees must be deemed abrogated and the admission below of the evidence objected must be regarded as proper. Neither is the probative value of the said evidence impaired by the fact that it was put forward by witness Eugenio Musni, admittedly the first cousin of the appellant. Kinship is no ground to disqualify or disbelieve a witness. As we read it, his testimony appears natural, straight-forward and convincing. The appellees have called to our attention no specific infirmity therein which detracts from the credibility thereof. As a matter of fact, the point of inquiry being a matter of pedigree which in a large measure is oftentimes reflected by family reputation, reliance upon the testimony of members of the same family is an accepted evidentiary norm. As the revised Rules of Court declare, “The reputation or tradition existing in a family previous to the controversy, in respect to the pedigree of any one of its members, may be received in evidence if the witness testifying thereto be also a member of the family” (section 34, Rule 130, Rules of Court). It thus results that if any consequence be given to the close relationship of witness Eugenio Musni and the appellant, it is that the same strengthens, instead of weakens, the probative value of his testimony on the matter in controversy.

2. But was the appellant duly acknowledged as such natural child by Guillermo Baron?

It is axiomatic that what will suffice to constitute recognition by a putative parent of a natural child depends upon the law relating thereto, and that law must necessarily be the law in force when the acts are performed (Buenaventura vs. Urbano, et al., 5 Phil., 1, 3). In the case at bar, two laws must perforce be consulted. The appellant was born in 1886 under the regime of the Laws of Toro which, on December 8, 1889, were superseded by the Spanish Civil Code. The transition is significant here because a material change in the philosophy relative to the recognition of natural children supervened. Thus, under the Law II of Toro, tacit recognition, which was susceptible to such proof as would be sufficient to prove any other fact in an ordinary suit, was allowed (Llorente vs. Rodriguez, 3 Phil., 697, 702; Cosio, et al. vs. Pili, et al., 10 Phil., 72, 77; Requejo vs. Rabalo, 34 Phil., 16; De Gala vs. De Gala, et al., 42 Phil., 771, 774; Larena de Villanueva, et al. vs. Rubio, 43 Phil., 1017, 1019; whereas, under the Spanish Civil Code, recognition can only be express, whether voluntary or compulsory (article 131 and 135, Spanish Civil Code). Since the acts imputed to Guillermo Baron which are claimed to constitute his recognition of appellant spanned the regime of both laws, a dual approach to the problem must be resorted to. Acts performed by him prior to December 1889 when the Spanish Civil Code went into effect, are to be considered in the light of the Laws of Toro; while acts performed since 1889 must be referred to the Spanish Civil Code which was in force when they were performed.

Respecting the pre-1889 period, we find that the appellant has not satisfactorily established her claim of recognition, tacit or otherwise. As may be gleaned from the record, no pretense to any express recognition is as much as insinuated. Reliance is placed exclusively upon the appellant's averment that she, together with her deceased brothers, had been in the uninterrupted possession of the status of an acknowledged natural child of Guillermo Baron, justified by the acts of the latter and his family—which, under the applicable law, sufficed as tacit recognition. This is easier alleged than proved.

In the first place, a considerate view of the record fails to elicit competent proof as to any specific act of Guillermo Baron before 1889 which could as much as vaguely indicate his intent to then recognize the appellant as his natural child. While the appellant did not fix the dates when the acts of Guillermo referred to in her testimony were performed, it is obvious that any such acts could not have taken place prior to 1889 because at that time the appellant was barely three years of age and could not have had by then sufficient intelligence and reason, nay recollection, to competently testify on acts then performed. Nor was the witness Vidal Laxamana of any help in this respect. Admittedly, he was testifying on alleged acts performed by Guillermo Baron while Laxamana was his tenant. But on January 22, 1952 when he was on the stand, he had to concede that he had been such a tenant “por mas o menos de veinte años” only, or that he started as such only when Liberato Baron was “mas de veinte años”—all of which show that he could not have known anything relative to the matter in controversy prior to 1889. If at all, only Eugenio Musni—overlooking his failure to specify when the acts he testified about took place—could have been the only competent witness to speak on the pre-1889 acts of Guillermo Baron. Yet, instead of affording the court the benefit of a specification of particular acts of Guillermo Baron in relation to the appellant and her brothers, the most that this witness was able to muster was the statement that Guillermo Baron “Los trataba como sus verdaderos hijos”—which is a mere conclusion and a statement of the very fact which is the purpose of the inquiry to determine and, hence, incompetent (Buenaventura vs. Urbano, et al., 5 Phil., 1, 8). That the appellant may have been using the surname “Baron” is of no consequence either. It does not appear that Guillermo Baron himself allowed her the use of that surname since her birth. The appellant, in fact, admits that she had used the same “desde que tuvo uso de razon”, which could not have been before 1889. And, whatever may have been the case, the use of that surname by the appellant loses potency when viewed in the light of the fact, admitted by appellant herself, that Guillermo Baron was not so particular about the use of his surname inasmuch as he even allowed an “aeta” servant of his, who bore absolutely no relation to him, to bear his surname.

Apropos hereof, the following, culled from Tengco vs. Sanz, 163, 165, is illuminating:

“The evidence to show that the child had constantly possessed the status of a natural child was the following: After the child was born, the defendant went to the house of the mother and paid her P5 to pay the midwife. She lived in the same house with the defendant in the month of September, after the child was born, for twenty-one days, at the end of which she was ejected therefrom.

“Whether she supported herself during that time is not quite clear from her testimony. She said:

“‘He supported me; we lived together in one house and of course I ate when they ate; he is the one who manages the property of his mother, and where is that going when his mother dies? And on Thursday and Friday I go to help my mother in her work, and when I return I always have money that my parents give me, and that helps.’

“A witness for the plaintiff testified that she had seen the defendant in the house of the latter holding the child in his arms. This is all the evidence there is in the case to show the constant possession by the child of the status of a natural child, and it falls far short of what the law requires in this respect. (Buenaventura vs. Urbano, 5 Phil. Rep., 1; Benedicto vs. De la Rama, 4 Phil. Rep., 746; Mendoza vs. Ibañez, 4 Phil. Rep., 666).”

Vis-a-vis the foregoing, we are persuaded to say that the evidence in the case at bar, at least in reference to pre-

1889 acts of Guillermo Baron, is several times more striking in its paucity. Such that toeing the guideline laid down by the Supreme Court when it declared that—

“Public policy, indeed public necessity, demands that before an illegitimate child be admitted into a legitimate family, every requisite of the law be completely and fully complied with. No one should ever be permitted upon doubtful evidence to take from the legitimate children what they and their parents have, by industry, fidelity, and frugality, acquired. To do so would, in many instances where the legitimate children had ‘labored unsparingly in order that they might have the comforts of life and the joys of home,’ be manifestly contrary to the very plainest principles of justice. And again, if this can ever be done upon oral testimony alone, after the lips of the alleged father and mother have been closed by death, such testimony must be ‘clear, strong, and convincing’” (Serrano vs. Aragon, 22 Phil., 10, 13-14)— we see no recourse but to declare that the appellant failed to establish a case for her recognition under the law in force prior to 1889.

The appellant’s pose fares no better under the Spanish Civil Code. As correctly appreciated by the trial court, in default of any showing of recognition made in a record of birth, in a will, or in some public document (article 131, Spanish Civil Code)—as it is the case here, the appellant cannot claim the benefit of voluntary recognition. And without delving into the significance of the post-1889 acts of Guillermo Baron toward the appellant, the most that their combined force would amount to is merely to constitute bases for an action for compulsory recognition (article 135, Spanish Civil Code). However, we are with the court a quo in its holding that—if the action herein be regarded as an action for compulsory recognition—the same has since prescribed; it was not brought during the lifetime of the putative parent nor does it fall under any of the exceptions allowing said action to be instituted after the putative parent’s death (article 137, Spanish Civil Code). Undoubtedly, the appellant was no longer a minor when Guillermo Baron died. In like manner, besides being of doubtful sufficiency as a document in which the appellant “is expressly acknowledged”, because the mere reference therein to her as “my daughter” by Guillermo Baron does not manifest the intent to recognize which must be deliberately expressed to that end” (Buenaventura vs. Urbano, et al., 9 Phil., 1, 6; Benedicto vs. De la Rama, et al., 4 Phil., 746, 748), exhibit F—which the appellant admits was signed in her presence—could not have been unknown to her or been discovered by her only after Guillermo Baron’s death.

The appellant’s effort to blunt the driving force of the foregoing argument does not impress us. She contends that, even conceding that exhibit F was already known to her as of the date of its execution, i.e., July 15, 1933, considering that the period for bringing the action based thereon, according to her, was increased to ten (10) years, the filing of her petition on April 25, 1941 could not have been barred because by then barely seven (7) years had elapsed since July 15, 1933. Such ratiocination is not warranted by the letter of the law. By its unequivocal terms, article 137, paragraph (2) of the Spanish Civil Code allows the bringing of the action for compulsory recognition after the death of the putative parent only—

“If, after the death of the father or mother, some document, before unknown, should be discovered in which the child is expressly acknowledged.”

Implicit therein is the fact that if the document is known or discovered prior to such death, the action based thereon must be brought during the lifetime of the parent. It is only when knowledge is acquired or discovery is made after such death that the right to file the corresponding action may be exercised after death. Here, exhibit F was known to the appellant as early as July 15, 1933; Guillermo Baron died only on February 28, 1935. The action for recognition should have been filed before that time. So much so that even without resolving whether the period fixed in article 137 of the Spanish Civil Code was extended to ten (10) years or not, it goes without saying that the institution of the same after the death of Guillermo Baron was late. Otherwise stated, the appellant's case is controlled by the general rule—not by the exception. Accordingly, any right she may have had to compel her recognition was irretrievably foreclosed by the death of Guillermo Baron.

ACCORDINGLY, the judgment a quo is affirmed. No pronouncement as to costs.

Alvandia and Perez, JJ., concur.

Judgment affirmed.

[No. 35382-R. August 10, 1965]

ZACARIAS VIERNES, ET AL., petitioners, vs. PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES, respondent.

1. CRIMINAL PROCEDURE; DOUBLE JEOPARDY; EXPRESS CONSENT TO DISMISSAL AS WAIVER OF RIGHT TO SPEEDY TRIAL.—Express consent by the accused to the provisional dismissal of the case amounts to and constitutes a waiver of the right to a speedy trial. Such dismissal does not bar the filing of another information for the same offense. (People vs. Quimsing, G.R. No. L-19860, December 23, 1964; Jaca vs. Blanco, 86 Phil. 453).
2. ID.; ID.; ID.; REASON.—The constitutional right to a speedy trial is a personal privilege of the accused which he alone can invoke and, consequently, it is waiveable, and when the accused who could have claimed such a right expressly abandons or waives the same, there is no legal ground to sustain the defense of double jeopardy because his own acts have prevented the court from proceeding with the trial of the case.

ORIGINAL ACTION in the Court of Appeals. Certiorari and prohibition with preliminary injunction.

The facts are stated in the opinion of the Court.

Romeo A. Mactal and Francisco S. Pagaduan for petitioners.

Provincial Fiscal Oscar R. Victoriano for respondent.

ANGELES, J.:

This is a petition for certiorari and prohibition to annul the order of the respondent judge, dated January 5, 1965, issued in criminal case No. 8231 of the Court of First Instance of Nueva Ecija, which denied petitioners' motion to quash, and, in the alternative, to restrain the respondents from further proceeding with the said criminal case. Upon petitioners' filing of a bond, a writ of preliminary injunction was issued.

The record shows that on October 25, 1963, an information for malversation through falsification of public documents, allegedly committed on June 11, 1960, was filed by the assistant provincial fiscal of Nueva Ecija against petitioners Zacarias Viernes, Jose S. Mactal and Magno Olanda, in the Court of First Instance of that province where the case was docketed as criminal case No. 7861. Upon arraignment the petitioners entered a plea of not guilty. On June 8, 1964, when the case was called for trial, not one of the prosecution witnesses appeared despite due notice to them. The fiscal moved for postponement on that ground to which counsel for the petitioners objected, but the trial court postponed the hearing "for the last time" to June 22, 1964, and as prayed for by the fiscal the arrest of the witnesses was ordered. When June 22 came again not one of the prosecution witnesses appeared notwithstanding the warrant of arrest issued against them; whereupon the fiscal made the following manifestation:

"FISCAL

Our witness have not yet been apprehended." (transcript, p. 2, hearing of June 22, 1964.)

and the court made the following statement in open court:

"COURT

Case provisionally dismissed with the conformity of the accused in view of the non-appearance of the witnesses for the prosecution, notwithstanding the warrant of arrest issued." (Ibid.)

and the conformity of the petitioners to the provisional dismissal of the case is shown by the following entry at the bottom of the information:

"June 22, 1964

"We agree to the provisional dismissal of this case."

(Sgd.) ZACARIAS B. VIERNES

(Sgd.) JOSE S. MACTAL

(Sgd.) MAGNO OLANDA"

On the same date the court issued a written order of the following tenor:

"ORDER

"When this case was called for hearing this morning, none of the witnesses for the prosecution who were ordered arrested namely Isidro Bondoc, Bienvenido Victoria and Dominador Deus, appeared notwithstanding the warrant of arrest issued against them. With the conformity of the accused, assisted by their respective counsel, this case is hereby dismissed provisionally with cost de oficio. The bonds posted by the accused for their provisional liberty are cancelled."

On November 18, 1964, the respondent fiscal charged the petitioners anew in another information, docketed as criminal case No. 8231, which reiterates the allegations in the old information. Petitioners moved to quash the second information invoking their right not to be twice put in jeopardy of punishment for the same offense. It does not affirmatively appear that the motion to quash was filed after the accused had entered a plea to the information in case No. 8231. On January 5, 1965, the respondent judge issued the order complained of, denying the motion to quash. A motion for reconsideration filed by the petitioners was likewise denied. Hence, the instant petition.

In assailing the order of the respondent court, dated January 5, 1965, denying the motion to quash, the petitioners contend that "the respondent Judge has acted without or in excess of its or his jurisdiction in proceeding with Criminal Case No. 8231, since the petitioners were previously acquitted of the alleged crime recited therein in Criminal Case No. 7861."

The main question to be resolved is whether the provisional dismissal of criminal case No. 7861 bars the filing of another information for the same offense.

Petitioners claim that the dismissal of the first case amounts to an acquittal, and, hence, a bar to a subsequent prosecution for the same offense. Respondents contend, on the other hand, that since the dismissal was with petitioners' consent there is no basis for the plea of double jeopardy.

In Jaca vs. Blanco, 86 Phil. 453 (May 23, 1950), Romeo Jaca was accused before the Court of First Instance of Iloilo of Triple Homicide thru Reckless Imprudence. After arraignment the case was called for trial at 8:06 in the morning of February 3, 1949, and counsel for accused entered his appearance. The accused was also present. But as nobody appeared for the prosecution, the court then and there dismissed the case without prejudice. Four minutes later counsel for the private prosecution arrived, followed a little later by the City Fiscal together with the witnesses for the prosecution, and explained to the court that his delay was due to an unavoidable incident. Satisfied with the explanation, the Judge set aside the order and reset the case for trial on the following morning, February 4, 1949. On that date counsel for the accused asked for the postponement of the trial until February 16, and the respondent judge granted the request. In the meantime, that is to say, on February 5, 1949, counsel for the accused moved for the reconsideration of the order of the court setting aside its order of dismissal and reinstating the case, on the ground that the court had exceeded its jurisdiction in so doing, relying upon section 9 of Rule 113 (now 9, Rule 117) under the sub-topic of "Former conviction or acquittal or former jeopardy".

Dismissing the petition for certiorari subsequently filed by the accused, the Supreme Court said:

"We hold that the dismissal contemplated in the above-quoted section of the rule is a definite or unconditional dismissal which terminates the case, and not a dismissal without prejudice as in the present case. In the absence of any statutory provision to the contrary, we find no reason why the court may not, in the interest of justice, dismiss a criminal case provisionally, i.e., without prejudice to reinstating it before the order becomes final or to the subsequent filing of a new information for the same offense. * * *

In Pendatun vs. Aragon, 49 O.G. No. 10, p. 4372 (September 25, 1953), two informations for physical injuries and slander, respectively, filed in the municipal court of Manila against Aida Pendatun were "provisionally" dismissed on motion of the complaining witness. At the bottom of the motion, counsel for defendant wrote the words "no objection" and signed his name below it. The assistant city fiscal also signed his name. Upon a motion of the fiscal to reinstate the said cases, defendant objected on the ground of double jeopardy. The Supreme Court overruled the plea of double jeopardy thus:

"The words 'no objection' written on the motion to dismiss directly conveyed, as undoubtedly they were intended to convey the idea of full accordance with the proposed dismissal. It was not the same as acquiescence manifested by signs, actions, facts, inaction or silence. It was the same as saying 'I agree' although it was not as emphatic as the latter expression. Having manifested 'no objection' to the motion for the express purpose of obtaining a ruling of the court upon such motion, counsel could not have meant other than that he was in agreement with the dismissal, and there is no question that that was what the court and the prosecution understood him to mean; otherwise, trial could have been postponed instead of the case being temporarily dismissed, there being good grounds for continuance."

In People vs. Hinaut, G. R. No. L-11315, March 18, 1959, the accused Eustaquio Hinaut and two others were charged with theft before the Justice of the Peace Court of Lopez Jaena. At the trial, the prosecution presented its evidence, and thereafter rested its case with the reservation to introduce additional evidence, which was stated to be unavailable at the time. Before the defense could close its evidence, the Fiscal submitted a motion for the provisional dismissal of the case with the accused expressing their consent thereto by placing their thumbmarks at the end of the motion, after the words "With our conformity". The case was dismissed provisionally. Six months later, the case was refiled by the fiscal. From a ruling of the trial court dismissing the case based on double jeopardy, the People appealed to the Supreme Court which set aside the plea of double jeopardy, stating:

"When the accused signified their express conformity with the provisional dismissal of the case, there was neither acquittal nor dismissal that would put them twice in jeopardy of the same offense upon the refile of the case. The resolution of this Court dated May 21, 1951, in the case of Gandicela versus Lutero, G.R. No. L-4069 (wherein it was hinted that the addition of the words 'without prejudice' or 'provisional' to a court's order dismissing a case are without legal effect) contemplates a dismissal on the merits amounting to acquittal or a dismissal after arraignment and plea without the express consent of the accused. This is not true in this case, for the dismissal, according to the Justice of the Peace, was premised on the need of the prosecution to have more time in securing a missing piece of evidence necessary for the conviction of the accused. It is important to note that what was sought for by the provincial fiscal, to which the accused expressed their agreement, was not a simple or unconditional dismissal of the case, but its provisional dismissal that prevented it from being finally disposed of. Certainly, the accused cannot now validly claim that the dismissal was, in effect, on the merits and deny its provisional character. Even assuming, moreover, that there was double jeopardy, they should be considered as having waived the constitutional safeguard against the same."

In the case of Gandicela vs. Lutero, 88 Phil. 299 (March 5, 1951), cited in People vs. Hinaut, supra, the petitioner was charged with the crime of serious physical injuries in an information filed by the City Fiscal of Iloilo on May 12, 1950. When the trial of the case was finally set on July 17, 1950, "the City Fiscal appeared for the prosecution and informed the court that there was a private prosecutor authorized to present the case in court, and that he is not ready to enter into trial for Fiscal Dagway is the one handling this case, who is at present appearing in the Court of First Instance of Iloilo." The court, "taking into consideration that Attorney Mapa has not entered his appearance in this case and that this case has been dragging along for so many weeks, today being the last day set for trial, hereby orders that this case be dismissed without prejudice on the part of the City Fiscal, City of Iloilo, to file another information, with costs de oficio."

Dismissing the petition filed by the accused the Supreme Court said:

"If the accused did not move for the dismissal and the respondent judge dismissed the case, the dismissal would be definite or a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, even if the court or judge erroneously states in the order of dismissal that it be without prejudice to the filing of another information, because the court can not change the nature and legal effects of such dismissal, and the petitioner can not be prosecuted again for the same offense. But where a defendant expressly consents to or move for the dismissal of the case against him, even if the court or judge states in the order that the dismissal is definite or does not say that the dismissal is without prejudice to the filing of another information, the dismissal will not be a bar to a subsequent prosecution of the defendant for the same offense.

"According to section 9 of Rule 113, if a criminal case is dismissed otherwise than upon the merits at any stage before judgment, without the express consent of the defendant, by a court of competent jurisdiction, upon a valid complaint or information, and after the defendant has pleaded to the charge, the dismissal of the case shall be definite or a bar to another prosecution for the same offense; but if it is dismissed upon the petition or with the express consent of the defendant the dismissal will be without prejudice or not a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, because, in the last case, the defendant's action in having the case dismissed constitutes a waiver of his constitutional right not to be prosecuted again for the same offense.

"If the defendant wants to exercise his constitutional right to a speedy trial, he should ask, not for the dismissal but for the trial of the case. If the prosecution asks for the postponement of the hearing and the court believes that the hearing cannot be postponed any more without violating the right of the accused to a speedy trial, the court shall deny the postponement and proceed with the trial and require the fiscal to present the witnesses for the prosecution and if the fiscal does not or cannot produce his evidence and consequently fails to prove the defendant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt, the court, upon motion of the defendant, shall dismiss the case. Such dismissal is not in reality a mere dismissal although it is generally so called, but an acquittal of the defendant, because of the failure of the prosecution to prove the guilt of the defendant, and it will be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense even though it was ordered by the court upon motion or with the express consent of the defendant, in exactly the same way as a judgment of acquittal obtained upon the defendant's motion (People vs. Salico, 85 Phil., p. 54)."

In People vs. Labatate, G.R. No. L-12917 (April 27, 1960), the accused was prosecuted for estafa. After the accused had entered a plea of not guilty, the trial was commenced on the same date with the presentation of the offended party as a witness. The testimony of the offended party, however, was suspended because the accused presented a motion to dismiss the information on the ground that the facts alleged therein do not constitute a crime. The fiscal objected. And the court held that the facts alleged in the information do not constitute the crime of estafa, and ordered the dismissal of the case. A motion to reconsider the order of dismissal was presented but the same was denied, so the fiscal presented a motion to admit an amended information which changes the nature of the offense from that alleged in the dismissed information.

In granting the petition, the Supreme Court held that " * * * we find that the trial court found that the accused could not be found guilty of any offense under the information. The judgment entered was not one of dismissal but one of acquittal, and whether the judgment is correct or incorrect, the same constitutes a bar to the presentation of the amended information sought to be introduced by the fiscal."

In the same decision, in unmistakable words, the Supreme Court said:

"It will be noted that there are three cases where jeopardy would lie, according to the above provision, namely, conviction, acquittal, or dismissal or other termination of the case without the express consent of the accused. Note that the phrase without the express consent of the accused can not refer to conviction or acquittal, because in case of conviction after trial and without a plea of guilty, the termination is against the express consent of the accused. The only conviction which would be had with the express consent of the accused would be when a plea of guilty has been entered. When the defendant is acquitted after trial, it is always upon petition of the accused. If we were to make the said phrase (without the express consent of the accused) applicable to acquittal, there would be no case of jeopardy even when there is acquittal, because the acquittal will always be with the express consent, because ordinarily granted upon motion of, the accused. So it is that the phrase with the express consent of the accused can refer only to a dismissal or other termination, not a conviction or acquittal.

"What, then, is a dismissal with the express consent of the accused, which is not an acquittal. Such dismissal, in the first place, must not be one where the court has no jurisdiction, or where the information is not valid or sufficient to sustain a conviction, for in these cases no jeopardy attaches by express provision of the rule. Also, the dismissal must be after the defendant has pleaded, as also provided expressly in the rule.

“* * * * *

“One case contemplated by the rule as a dismissal or termination of the case would be where the fiscal, upon the case being called for trial and after a plea has been entered, states that he is not ready to proceed and the accused, who is not agreeable to a postponement, is willing to have the case dismissed provisionally. The dismissal is provisional and there would not be any jeopardy at all.”

In other words, the plea of double jeopardy was sustained not on the ground that the dismissal was with the consent of the accused but that the accused could not be found guilty of any offense under the information.

In People vs. Manlapas, G.R. No. L-17993 (August 24, 1962), Albuera, husband of Buelo, subscribed to a complaint charging Manlapas and Inopia with the crime of attempted rape with robbery before the Justice of the Peace Court of Baleno, Masbate. Pleading not guilty, and having waived the right to a preliminary investigation, the case was elevated to the Court of First Instance, whereupon the fiscal discovering that the complaint was not signed by the offended woman but by her husband moved that the case be returned to the inferior court, which was granted by the court. Conformably thereto a new complaint was filed for the same offense and subscribed by the offended woman. After entering a plea of not guilty, and having waived the right to a preliminary investigation, the case was elevated to the Court of First Instance, whereupon the fiscal filed the corresponding information. In this last court, the accused entered a plea of not guilty, and raised the question of the court's jurisdiction, and asked five days to file the motion to quash. However, the Court finding that no preliminary investigation was conducted by the justice of the peace, motu proprio dismissed the case without prejudice to the refile of the same in the proper court.

Granting the petition, the Supreme Court said:

“The question that now confronts us is: Having the case dismissed by the court a quo after the accused had pleaded not guilty, does the dismissal have the effect of barring further prosecution of the accused on the ground of double jeopardy?

“Of course, there being valid information before a competent court, and after the accused had pleaded not guilty, the dismissal of the original information may have the effect of barring further prosecution for the same offense, in the light of Section 9, Rule 113, of our Rules of Court. But the dismissal was qualified; it was made without prejudice to the refile of the case in the proper court. This, in our opinion, takes this case out of the purview of the rule regarding double jeopardy.

“Thus, in Jaca vs. Blanco, 47 O. G., sup. 12, p. 108, we held that the dismissal contemplated in the above-mentioned section of the rule is a definite or unconditional dismissal which terminates the case, and not a dismissal without prejudice as in the present case. 'In the absence of any statutory provision to the contrary, we find no reason why the court may not, in the interest of justice, dismiss a criminal case provisionally, i.e., without prejudice to reinstating it before the order becomes final or to the subsequent filing of a new information for the offense.' And this ruling was reiterated in the recent case of People vs. Jahayab, G. R. Nos. L-9238-39, November 13, 1956."

In People vs. Cloribel, G.R. No. L-20314, August 31, 1964, a criminal information for falsification of public, official and/or commercial documents was filed against Bienvenido Aguilar and others, docketed as criminal case No. 45717 of the Court of First Instance of Manila. After the accused had been arraigned and they had entered their plea, the case was set for trial on the merits on May 26 and 27, 1959. Various incidents had taken place which prevented the trial from proceeding as scheduled and it was transferred to September 16, 1959. "From September 16, 1959 to August 30, 1960, the scheduled hearings were postponed for at least six times. Of these six postponements, four were jointly sought or agreed upon by counsel for both parties and one each on their own individual representation. Thus, the hearing for September 16, 1959 was cancelled and postponed to November 23, 25 and 27, 1959 which were in turn transferred to the following dates successively: (1) January 25, 26 and 27, 1960; (2) March 9, 1960; (3) April 20, 21 and 22, 1960; (4) June 14, 15 and 16, 1960; (5) July 11, 13 and 18, 1960; (6) August 24, 25 and 26, 1960. Of the above six dates, postponements 1, 2, 4 and 5 were jointly asked or agreed upon by the two parties herein. Number 3 was prayed for by the respondent while Number 6 was presented by the petitioner. Finally, on August 23, 1960, the lower court postponed the hearing of the case set for August 24, 25 and 26 until further assignment." Finally, the case was set for hearing on the merits on August 15, 1962, and on said date none of the Government prosecutors appeared, and the Judge entered the following order:

"When this case was called for trial at 8:30 the special prosecutor failed to appear despite due notice. The case was called again at 9:30 and still the prosecutor failed to appear.

"WHEREFORE, upon motion of the counsel for the defense this case is hereby provisionally dismissed with costs de officio and cancellation of bail bonds."

Upon learning of the foregoing order, the Government prosecutor filed a motion for reconsideration of the order, which was denied. Hence, the petition for certiorari.

One of the issues posed and resolved in the case was: "And, second, what was the effect of the said order? Did it amount to an acquittal as would bar a reinstatement of Criminal Case No. 45717 by reason of double jeopardy?" On this issue, the Supreme Court said:

"The petitioner denies that the respondents can so invoke the protection of the double jeopardy rule because, first, it was they themselves who moved for the dismissal, and second because the dismissal was expressly decreed to be provisional'.

"On the other hand, the respondents contend that the dismissal was an acquittal within the meaning of Sec. 9, Rule 113 of the former Rules of Court (now Rule 117, Sec. 9) because it was ordered subsequent to arraignment by a competent court and upon a valid information. Furthermore, they urged that the qualification of the dismissal into 'provisional' is of no legal consequence since it was beyond the respondent Judge's power to do.

"As indicated earlier, We find for the respondents again.

"In asserting that Criminal Case No. 45717 may still be reinstated, the petitioner adopts the ruling once followed by this Court to the effect that a dismissal upon the defendant's own motion is a dismissal consented to by him and, consequently, 'will not be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, because, his action in having the case dismissed constitutes a waiver of his constitutional right or privilege, for the reason that he thereby prevents the court from proceeding to the trial on the merits and rendering a judgment of conviction against him (People vs. Salico, 84 Phil. 722). But, this authority has long been abandoned and the ruling therein expressly repudiated.

Thus, in the case of People vs. Robles, G. R. No. L-12761, June 29, 1959 citing People vs. Bangalao, L-5610, February 17, 1954; People vs. Diaz, L-6518, March 30, 1954; People vs. Albano, L-7862, May 17, 1955; and People vs. Ferrer L-9072, October 23, 1956, We said:

"* * *. In reaching the above conclusion, this Court has not overlooked the ruling in the case of People vs. Salico, 47 O. G. 4765, to the effect that a dismissal upon defendant's motion will not be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense as said dismissal was not without the express consent of the defendant, which ruling the prosecution now invokes in support of its appeal; but said ruling is not now controlling, having been modified or abandoned in subsequent cases wherein this Court sustained the theory of double jeopardy despite the fact that the dismissal was secured upon motion of the accused.' (Italics supplied.)

"Also, the rule that a dismissal upon defendant's motion will not be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense as said dismissal is not without the express consent of the defendant, has no application to a case where the dismissal, as here, is predicated on the right of a defendant to a speedy trial. (People vs. Tacheng, et al., G. R. No. L-12082, April 30, 1959.)

"The petitioner next contends that the qualification of the dismissal into 'provisional' removes it from the protective mantle of the double jeopardy rule for the said rule contemplates a definite or unconditional termination of the case.

"Petitioner's formulation of the rule is correct but irrelevant. A conditional provisional, or without prejudice dismissal admittedly cannot be the legal basis for a claim to the protection of the double jeopardy rule. The issue in this case, however, is not the validity of the proposition. Rather, the issue is whether the qualification notwithstanding, the dismissal entered on August 15, 1962 was definite or without prejudice.

"In the case of People vs. Diaz, G. R. No. L-6518, March 10, 1954, this Court ruled that the dismissal of a case upon motion of the defense for failure of the fiscal to be present on the day of trial constitutes a bar to a subsequent prosecution of the accused for the same offense. Again, in the case of People vs. Labatete, G. R. No. L-12917, April 7, 1960, We said:

'We again call attention to the fact that Judges should be careful in the use of the term 'dismissal' and not use the term in cases where there has been trial on the merits and the court finds that the evidence is insufficient; in which case the judgment that should be entered is one of acquittal, not merely dismissal. Even where the fiscal fails to prosecute and the judge dismisses the case, the termination is not real dismissal but acquittal because the prosecution failed to prove the case when the time therefor came.' (Underlining supplied.)

"Considering the foregoing jurisprudence, therefore, We can only conclude that the dismissal here complained of was not truly a 'dismissal' but an acquittal. For it was entered upon the defendants' insistence on their constitutional right to speedy trial and by reason of the prosecution's failure to appear on the date of trial.

"If, therefore, the qualification by the respondent Judge of the dismissal into 'provisional' has any consequence in law, it is what We expressed in the case of Gandicela vs. Lutero, 88 Phil. 299, to wit:

"* * * Courts have no discretion to determine or characterize the legal effects of their orders or decisions, unless expressly authorized to do so as provided for in Rule 30 of the Rules of Court. The addition of such words 'without prejudice' 'provisionally' or 'definitely' to their order or decision would be mere surplusage if the legal effect under the law is otherwise, because courts cannot amend the law. So it is not for the court to state in the order or decision that the case is dismissed either definitely or without prejudice.' (Italics supplied.)

"We reiterated in the case of People vs. Diaz, L-6518, March 30, 1954, the above doctrine. Then, We said:

'Here the prosecutor was not even present on the day of the trial so as to be in a position to proceed with the presentation of evidence to prove the guilt of the accused. The case was set for hearing twice and the prosecution without asking for postponement or giving any explanation just failed to appear. So the dismissal of the case, though at the instance of the defendant Diaz, may, according to what we said in the Gandicela case, be regarded as an acquittal.' (Italics supplied.)

"IN VIEW OF ALL THE FOREGOING, We hold that a reinstatement of this case would operate to violate the respondents-defendants' right against double jeopardy. And, having failed to establish grave abuse of discretion against the respondent Judge herein, this petition is dismissed, costs de officio. So ordered."

In People vs. Quimsing, G. R. No. L-19860 (December 23, 1964), Quimsing and others were charged with illegal cockfighting before the Municipal Court of the Municipality of Iloilo, docketed as Criminal Case No. 18926. The case was set for trial on 27 September 1961. At 8:30 in the morning of that day, the case was called. However, the prosecution was not ready to proceed with the trial of the case and, thereupon, the Court dismissed the case. We shall refer to this as the first dismissal. The prosecutor then appeared in court and asked for a reconsideration stating that he would be ready to proceed to trial at 9:30 that same day. The defense objected on the ground of double jeopardy. The Court overruled the objection and set the hearing at 9:30 in the morning of that day, at which time the prosecution was ready for trial. But because the Court preferred to hear another criminal case against a detention prisoner, upon agreement of the parties the trial of the case was set for another date. On 8 March 1962 the case was again called for trial and because the prosecution was again not ready while the defense was ready for trial, the Court dismissed the case motu proprio in open court. This dismissal shall be referred to hereinafter as the second dismissal. The fiscal then moved for reconsideration of the order but the motion was denied. However, after some argument, the Court asked the accused whether they are agreeable to a provisional dismissal of the case, to which question, their counsel answered: "I think they agree." Thereupon, the Court announced that the case "was provisionally dismissed with the consent of the accused." The following day, 9 March 1962, the fiscal refiled the same charges against the accused in the same court. This time, the indictment was docketed as Criminal Case No. 28421.

On a motion to quash on the ground of double jeopardy, the Court, over the objection of the fiscal, dismissed the case. The fiscal appealed the order of dismissal to the Court of First Instance of Iloilo. The last court sustained the Municipal Court.

Hence, the appeal by the People from the last order dismissing the case on the ground of double jeopardy.

In setting aside the order of dismissal and remanding the case to the inferior court for further proceedings, the Supreme Court said:

"Assuming that the dismissal in open court of Criminal Case No. 18926 at 8:30 o'clock in the morning of 27 September 1961 was, and had the effect of, a final and definite dismissal of the case, notwithstanding the qualification made by the trial court that the dismissal was 'provisional' (Gandicela vs. Lutero, L-4069, Res. of May 21, 1951) and that the accused could correctly raise the defense of double jeopardy against the reconsideration of the dismissal, still the accused did not pursue their defense of double jeopardy; instead, they agreed to have the trial postponed, and at the hearing of 8 March 1962 they appeared and, through counsel, manifested that they were ready for the trial. Their agreement to the postponement, their appearance during, and their manifestation of readiness to enter trial, instead of taking steps to enjoin or prohibit further proceedings in the case, show that the accused abandoned or waived their defense of double jeopardy in that instance.

"When the second case was again dismissed, the accused, instead of insisting on their defense of double jeopardy and enjoining further proceedings, agreed once more to a provisional dismissal, through their counsel, thereby again abandoning or waiving with the express consent of the accused, was indeed provisional.

"Consequently, when the fiscal refiled the case the accused were in estoppel to plead the jeopardy that they had already waived twice, since the refiling was evidently done on the strength of their express assent to the provisional dismissal of the first charge. Therefore, the municipal court and the court of first instance both erred in sustaining the motion to quash on the ground of second jeopardy.

"Nor can it be urged that the appeal by the prosecution from the orders of dismissal now before us constituted and placed the accused in jeopardy anew, since it does not affirmatively appear that the motion to quash was filed after a plea by the accused appellees (People vs. Kho, L-7529, October 31, 1955). Before a plea, no jeopardy attaches (People vs. Pascual, L-9490, Nov. 29, 1957)."

From a survey of the rulings enunciated in the hereinabove cited cases, and on the authority of the pronouncement in People vs. Cloribel, supra, citing People vs. Bangalao and People vs. Ferrer, the rule in People vs. Salico that "dismissal upon defendant's motion will not be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense" can be declared obsolete and no longer controlling. However, the pronouncement should not be equated with dismissal with express consent of the accused. This is sustained by the Supreme Court in People vs. Quimsing (December 23, 1964), supra, which is a much later decision than that rendered in People vs. Cloribel (August 31, 1964); furthermore it is to be noted that in the Cloribel case the accused therein did not give his consent to the provisional dismissal, whereas in the Quimsing case the defendant agreed to such kind of dismissal. In the case before us the accused also expressly consented to the dismissal of the case, and their consent amounted to and constituted a waiver of their right to a speedy trial. For, as has been said in Jaca vs. Blanco, supra,—

"* * * If the accused should deem such conditional or provisional dismissal to be unjust and prejudicial to him because he has been deprived of his right to a speedy trial, as for instance where the case has dragged on for an unreasonably long time without his fault, he could and should object to such dismissal and insist that the case be heard and decided on the merits. Upon such objection and insistence of the accused, if the prosecution does not present its evidence and if its failure to do so is unjustified, the court should dismiss the case for failure to prosecute. Such dismissal would come under the purview of section 9, Rule 113."

By following the pronouncement in People vs. Quimsing, supra, we have not forsaken and disregarded the constitutional right of an accused to a speedy trial which fact is to be determined by the court upon the facts obtaining in the case. But such right is a personal privilege of the accused which he alone can invoke and, consequently, it is waiveable, and when the accused who could have claimed such a right expressly abandons or waives the same, certainly, there is no legal ground to sustain the defense of double jeopardy because his own acts have prevented the court from proceeding with the trial of the case.

On the factual question of whether the trial of the instant case in the lower court has been unduly delayed by the prosecution, it is well to remember that as appears of record the case had been set for trial only two times, June 8 and 22, 1964, and the inability of the Government to proceed with the trial cannot be attributed to circumstances of its own making because, as it appears in the record, the witnesses for the prosecution could not be located notwithstanding the warrant of arrest, and it is not farfetched to assume that the reason the Government met insurmountable difficulty in serving the warrant of arrest on said witnesses was because they went hiding with the purpose of frustrating the presentation of their testimony in court to defeat the ends of justice. Under these circumstances, it cannot reasonably be said that the trial of the case dragged on for an unreasonable length of time to the prejudice of the accused and that the inability of the fiscal to present his evidence was due to lack of interest to prosecute the case. The facts obtaining in the case, in our opinion, have shown justifiable ground for the prosecution to ask for another postponement of the trial.

For the following considerations, the petition is dismissed without costs on equitable considerations.

THE PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES, plaintiff and appellee,
vs. RAMONILLA TUdTUD and ELADIO DALISAY, accused and appellants.

1. CRIMINAL LAW; ADULTERY; DEFENSES; ABANDONMENT BY HUSBAND DOES NOT NECESSARILY MEAN CONSENT TO AFFAIR OF WIFE.—In a prosecution for adultery unjustified abandonment by the husband is not a valid defense. At most it would only have the effect of lowering the penalty (People vs. Avelino, et al., 40 O. G. Supp. 11, 194; Francisco, 3 Revised Penal Code, 1287). Clearly, abandonment in itself does not necessarily mean nor carry with it acquiescence or consent to the adulterous affair of the wife.
2. ID.; ID.; CONSENT OR ACQUIESCENCE; INACTION OF HUSBAND AND DELAY IN FILING COMPLAINT.—Consent or acquiescence to the adulterous affair of the wife may not be drawn from the mere delay of 6 months in the filing of the complaint and the apparent inaction of the husband particularly where these have been sufficiently explained.
3. ID.; ID.; ABANDONMENT BY HUSBAND DUE TO NAGGING OF WIFE AND MOTHER; CASE AT BAR.—Where there is nothing on record to show that the husband did not try to support his wife the best way he knew how, and he left the house of his mother-in-law where he and his wife had lived because of his wife's and her mother's constant nagging and vociferous disapproval of his low income, precisely designed to drive him away in order to give the wife more leeway in seeking greener pastures, the husband's abandonment can not be availed of by the wife and her co-accused even to merely mitigate their crime.

APPEAL from a judgment of the City Court of Iligan.
Palarca, J.

The facts are stated in the opinion of the Court.

Francisco A. Obach for accused and appellant.

Solicitor General Arturo A. Alafritz, Assistant Solicitor General Antonio A. Torres and Solicitor Federico A. Sian for plaintiff and appellee.

RODRIGUEZ, J.:

This refers to the appeal of Ramonilla Tudit and Eladio Dalisay from the judgment of the municipal court of Iligan City, finding the appellants guilty as charged of the crime of adultery and accordingly sentencing them to an indeterminate penalty of from 4 months and 1 day of arresto mayor as minimum, to 2 years, 4 months and 1 day of prisión correccional as maximum; and to pay the costs.

The following facts are not disputed and have been established by the evidence:

Complainant Julian Pasco and appellant Ramonilla Tudit were legally married according to the rites of the church on August 29, 1960 (Exh. A, p. 8 record). During the first few months of their marriage, they lived in the house of Agapito Cadampog, one of their sponsors, in Iligan City, after which they transferred to the house of Ramonilla's mother in the same city. Pasco derived his income from driving a passenger rig, the amount of which earning was the cause of frequent naggings from his wife and mother-in-law. Undoubtedly due partly to these frequent family spats, the couple were separated on January 17, 1961 (p. 11 t.s.n.). Subsequently, in February 1962, according to Ramonilla herself (p. 97 t.s.n.), she started living with her co-accused, and in December of the same year a child was born to them (p. 134 t.s.n.). It is also admitted that Eladio Dalisay knew beforehand of the civil status of his co-accused.

In addition to the above mentioned facts established and concurred in by the evidence of both parties, complainant Pasco alleged that it was his wife who left the conjugal dwelling on January 17, 1961, and that although he asked his mother-in-law of her daughter's whereabouts, she did not tell him anything (p. 11 t.s.n.). So, the complainant started looking for his wife in the houses of their relatives (p. 31 t.s.n.). Subsequently, Pasco saw his wife in the company of Eladio and learned of their relationship. Since then the complainant did not bother to even approach Ramonilla, for he came to regard "her as a dirty woman—going with a man not her husband." (pp. 34, 38 t.s.n.) Nevertheless, Pasco bided his time about filing his complaint because he thought that he still did not have enough evidence (pp. 35, 38, 39 t.s.n.). Thus, it was not until Ramonilla gave birth to a child in December 1962 (p. 134 t.s.n.) that Pasco felt that he had sufficient evidence to back up a complaint (p. 40 t.s.n.). Thus the complaint Exhibit B was filed on January 10, 1963.

On the other hand, the appellants threw the abandonment charge back at the complainant. Ramonilla averred that one day, after a quarrel with his mother-in-law, Pasco left Ramonilla, saying that "since he cannot support me he has to leave me under the care of my mother." (p. 105 t.s.n.). The appellants likewise infer that the complainant had acquiesced or consented to their relationship, for not only did he fail to exhibit any sign of indignation despite having seen them together and knowing that they lived together, but the complainant even went so far as to demand money from the appellants in return for his desistance from filing a complaint. In fact, according to the appellants, prior to the filing of the complaint they had already given the complainant some money, and after the complaint had been filed and Pasco had testified, Eladio gave the complainant P400.00 in consideration of his execution of Exhibit 1 stating that he is "no longer interested to further prosecute the said criminal case against Eladio Dalisay.”

The trial court discredited Exhibit 1 as proof of condonation or pardon, for it was presented and executed only during the trial and after the prosecution had rested—not before the institution of the criminal action. Moreover, as the trial court observed, Julian Pasco was not presented by the defense to support and identify the same exhibit.

In this appeal the appellants again harp on the complainant's purported abandonment and his implied consent as supposedly mirrored by his inaction and delay in the filing of the complaint and by his execution of Exhibit 1. Appellants admit that Exhibit 1 is worthless as evidence of pardon or condonation, but they insist that it gives an insight to the reasons behind complainant's actuations.

Unjustified abandonment by the complainant, even if true, cannot be a valid defense. At most it would only have the effect of lowering the penalty (People vs. Avelino, et al., 40 C.G. Supp. 11, 194; Francisco, 3 Revised Penal code, 1287). Clearly, abandonment in itself does not necessarily mean nor carry with it acquiescence or consent to the adulterous affair of the wife. In the cases cited by the appellants (see pp. 15–17 of their brief), the reason behind the Court's verdict was palpably the overt consent on the part of the supposedly offended husband, and not his abandonment of his accused wife. In the cited case of People vs. Sensano and Ramos, 58 Phil. 73, it is noted that Sensano had already served her sentence as a result of the first complaint that her husband had filed, and that after such service she begged her husband to pardon her. However, the husband refused to pardon her and to take her back; instead he said that he would have nothing to do with her anymore and that “she could do as she pleased.” Because of this attitude of her husband, Sensano resumed her relationship with her co-accused in the first case, for which reason her husband filed another complaint. It was the judgment in this second case that the Supreme Court reversed, based on manifest consent of the husband as may be gleaned from his own words that his wife could do as she pleased.

The same thing may be said of the other cited case of People vs. Guinucud and Tagayun, 58 Phil. 621. The husband and wife in that case agreed to separate and to “accept or marry” any other person, which agreement, although held void in law, the Supreme Court considered as “competent evidence to explain the husband's inaction after he knew of his wife's living with the co-accused and to show that he acquiesced in her conduct.”

In the case at bar, however, there is no such evidence from which the conclusion of consent or acquiescence may be drawn. The mere delay in the filing of the complaint and the apparent inaction of Pasco have been sufficiently explained. It should be borne in mind that according to Ramonilla herself, it was only in December 1961 that she first met her co-accused (p. 106 t.s.n.) and that the first time she met the complainant after she had lived with her co-accused was only in June 1962 (p. 113 ts.n.), or only about six months before the filing of the complaint. And the lapse of six months from the time the complainant first became aware of Ramonilla's relationship with Eladio in June 1962, up to the date of the filing of the complaint, has been explained by the complainant in that in the first few times he saw his wife with her co-accused he was not sure that he had sufficient evidence to back up a complaint for adultery. The evidence that the complainant deemed sufficient and was waiting for arose only in December 1962 when Ramonilla gave birth to a child admittedly out of her union with Eladio, and shortly after this the complaint was filed.

Moreover, even granting that the complainant had really left the house of his mother-in-law, it is quite clear from the appellants' own evidence that such departure was due to Ramonilla's and her mother's vociferous disapproval of the low income of the complainant. There is nothing on record to show that the complainant did not try to support his wife the best way he knew how. On the contrary, it is apparent that it was Ramonilla who, perhaps with the prodding of her mother, subsequently became more demanding in terms of money and who entirely forgot all about her marriage vow to love and to cherish her husband for richer or for poorer. It may not even be amiss to infer that the constant nagging from the two women was precisely designed to drive away the complainant in order to give Ramonilla more leeway in seeking greener pastures. Under such circumstances, we do not believe that abandonment can be availed of by the appellants even to merely mitigate their crime.

We do not find it unnatural that the complainant remained apparently complacent even when he saw his wife in the intimate company of her co-accused. As the complainant himself said, he came to regard his wife as a woman of low morals, and it is plain that he preferred to let them come up with the evidence he wanted and to let the law take its course, rather than to resort to scandalous exhibitionism.

Like the other circumstances discussed heretofore, the complainant's alleged demands for money in exchange for his desistance from filing a complaint, is a matter of credibility, the trial court's finding on which we dare not disturb in the absence from the record of any fact or circumstance of weight to warrant our doing so. Appellants themselves present a confused and incredible picture on the matter of the alleged demands for money. Ramonilla alleged that the complainant's first demand was made in June 1962 (p. 113 t.s.n.), while Eladio insisted that it was made in 1963 (p. 128 t.s.n.). Further debilitating the same allegations, Eladio averred that the complainant made four demands before the filing of the complaint, which demands were supposedly made in March 1963 (p. 131 t.s.n.), although the record clearly shows that the complaint was filed January 10, 1963. In this connection, we cannot give much credit to Exhibit 1 to prove such demands and payment. In the first place, the same exhibit has not been identified or authenticated by the complainant; it does not even specify to what case it refers; neither does it mention appellant Ramonilla who, under the ordinary course of things, would have been uppermost in the complainant's mind if Exhibit 1 were truly executed to save the appellants from criminal responsibility. As proof of consent, the same exhibit is likewise worthless, for it came only after the filing of the complaint.

On the whole, we believe and so hold that the evidence has established the guilt of the appellants beyond reasonable doubt. WHEREFORE, the appealed judgment is hereby affirmed, with costs against the appellants.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

THE PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES, plaintiff and appellee,
vs. CARLOS DE LEON, accused and appellant.

CRIMINAL LAW; QUALIFIED SEDUCTION; TERM "DOMESTIC" USED IN ART. 337, REVISED PENAL CODE.—"Domestic," used in Article 337 of the Revised Penal Code, whose carnal knowledge of a virgin over twelve but under eighteen years of age is punishable as qualified seduction, is not restricted to household servants. It includes all those persons residing with a family and who are members of the same household (Decisions of November 11, 1881, April 15, 1889 and February 13, 1900 of the Supreme Court of Spain; U.S. vs. Arlante, 9 Phil. 595; U.S. vs. Santiago, 26 Phil. 184; People vs. Lauro Lauchengco, Vol. 45, O. G. p. 3485, 3489, August, 1949).

APPEAL from a judgment of the Court of First Instance of Nueva Ecija. Makasiar, J.

The facts are stated in the opinion of the Court.

Alfonso G. Espinosa for accused and appellant.

Solicitor General Arturo A. Alafritz, Assistant Solicitor General Antonio A. Torres and Solicitor Norberto P. Eduardo for plaintiff and appellee.

ESGUERRA, J.:

Carlos de Leon appeals from the decision of the Court of First Instance of Cabanatuan City finding him guilty of qualified seduction and sentencing him to an indeterminate penalty ranging from three (3) months and eleven (11) days of arresto mayor, as minimum, to one (1) year, eight (8) months and twenty-one (21) days of prisión correccional, as maximum, with the accessories of the law, to indemnify the offended party, Warlita Abella, in the sum of ₱2,000.00 for moral damages, with subsidiary imprisonment in case of insolvency, to acknowledge and support any offspring that Warlita Abella may have by reason of the crime, and to pay the costs.

The evidence for the prosecution tends to establish that the offended party, Warlita Abella, was born on January 15, 1942, in barrio Inacban, Ayungon, Negros Oriental. Without her parents' knowledge and consent, she was recruited at the age of 15 by the Salao Employment Agency of Malabon, Rizal, and on April 9, 1957, she left her hometown with her cousin, Lolita Redula. On April 15, 1957, she was brought to the family of Marcelino de Leon at Rizal Street, Cabanatuan City, as a housemaid. The de Leon spouses have ten children the eldest of whom is the appellant, Carlos de Leon, whom the offended party first came to know three months after her arrival in Cabanatuan City. Warlita used to sleep alone on a wooden and rattan bed in the living room of the second floor of the house of the de Leons, while appellant and his six brothers usually slept in one bedroom, his parents in another bedroom, and his sisters and aunt in a third bedroom on the second floor.

About twelve o'clock midnight on January 27, 1958, Warlita was awakened by the accused kissing and fondling her. When she tried to struggle, the appellant clamped her mouth and threatened to kill her with a balisong if she did not submit to his lustful desires. Thus frightened and subdued, the accused was able to have carnal intercourse with her that night when the parents of the appellant were in Manila. Because of the forcible coition, her vagina bled.

After appellant woke up the following morning, he told Warlita not to worry about what happened the night before as he would marry her. He threatened to kill her if she filed a complaint against him or if his parents would learn about it, adding that he would follow her wherever she went.

On the night of January 28, 1958, she was awakened again by appellant who wanted to have another carnal intercourse with her. She submitted to his insistent desires that night. After the carnal intercourse, the accused again warned her not to report the incident to his mother, promising to marry her on July 4, 1958, which he did not fulfill.

On the night of October 17, 1958, the accused had another sexual intercourse with her, all the while reassuring her of his promise of marriage. Because of his unfulfilled promise, she left the de Leon household on the night of October 18, 1958, and went straight to the police authorities of Cabanatuan City to complain against appellant. A policeman brought her to the Nueva Ecija Provincial Hospital for examination of her private parts and she was examined by Dr. Hilarion Cajucom. Thereafter she did not return to the de Leon household but went to live with a Visayan friend at Rizal Street near the house of the de Leons. Mrs. de Leon, appellant's mother, went to her and entreated her not to leave, but she replied that she had to do so because she could no longer endure her grief over her misfortune.

Dr. Hilarion Cajucom of the Nueva Ecija Provincial Hospital testified that about ten o'clock in the evening of October 18, 1958, he examined the genital organs of Warlita Abella and found that her hymen was ruptured with evidence of old lacerations at 2, 5 and 11 o'clock caused by the introduction of a foreign object like a penis, or an eggplant, or a piece of wood, or metal or a radio tube; that the vagina admitted easily two fingers without pain, indicating that the offended party was no longer a virgin at the time of the examination; and that the labia minora was dark, rugged, everted and showed signs that she suffered several times the introduction of a foreign object into her vagina (Exh. B). The doctor added that he could not determine then whether or not she was pregnant.

The accused interposed the defense of alibi. He claimed that from January 21 to February 5, 1958, he was in Santiago, Isabela, with one Gaudencio Sarangaya trying to negotiate contracts to haul palay; that from mid-February, 1958, up to November, 1958, he slept every night in the house of his first cousin, Mrs. Bella Aldas, at Bantug, Sangitan, Cabanatuan City, about one or two kilometers away from his house at Rizal Street, to keep her and her children company as her husband was away in the Ilocos and Cagayan Regions engaged in the trucking business, and that during his stay with them he never stepped out at night.

A perusal of the evidence clearly convinces us that appellant's alibi is weak and unconvincing. Simeona Franco, appellant's laundry woman, contradicted him when she testified that appellant stopped hauling gravel in Fort Magsaysay in September, 1957, and thereafter he stayed in Mrs. Aldas' residence (t.s.n., p. 31, July 5, 1961), contrary to his claim that he began staying at Mrs. Aldas's place after his arrival from Santiago, Isabela, in February, 1958. His alleged stay in Santiago, Isabela, from January 21 to February 5, 1958, was not corroborated by any witness. He could have easily presented his alleged companion, Gaudencio Sarangaya, to corroborate him but he failed to do so despite the fact that Gaudencio Sarangaya and his family reside in Cabanatuan City even if Gaudencio has an electric plant in Santiago. Appellant could have easily produced him as his witness, there being no reason for his failure to contact him before the scheduled dates for the trial of this case.

Again, it is seriously doubted whether appellant really stayed in the house of his cousin, Bella Aldas. At the time he allegedly stayed in Mrs. Aldas' house, the latter has already ten children, the eldest of whom was a girl about 14 or 15 years old, the second, a boy of about 13 or 14 years old and the third, a girl of about 11 or 12 years old. Her house was along the road with neighbors on both sides only about twelve meters away. Cabanatuan City is quite populous and peaceful and accessible from her house. Although Mrs. Aldas said that she always locked her house at night, she did so from the inside and one living there could go out. All these circumstances militate against appellant's claim that he stayed put in Mrs. Aldas' house to keep her and her children company and did not even go out at night. Even granting that appellant really stayed with Mrs. Aldas during all nights from February to November, 1958, it was not impossible for him to have committed the offense on the dates stated. Mrs. Aldas' house is only one or two kilometers away from the appellants house and hence the distance could be negotiated in a matter of from 15 to 20 minutes by hiking.

Appellant admitted that he went home every week to change his clothes. His sister, Lolita de Leon, also admitted that he used to go to their house for that purpose, at times during the night. He thereby had all the opportunity to enjoy the company of the offended party during those occasions. Simeona Franco testified that appellant used to come home on Saturdays and sometimes on Sundays, further indicating that appellant had all the chances to be with Warlita Abella and have sexual intercourse with her.

Appellant argues that he cannot be adjudged guilty of qualified seduction because he is not a public authority, a priest, a teacher or a guardian who come within the purview and meaning of Article 337 of the Revised Penal Code. This contention is without merit. Between the appellant and the offended party there existed the special relation of servant and domestic. The offended party was the housemaid of the de Leon family, including appellant who is the eldest of the children. This fact was admitted by appellant when he testified that complainant left their house because she was offended by his behavior. When he asked her for his clean clothes, she could not immediately do his bidding and because of the harsh and bitter words with which he scolded her, she went away.

Appellant falls squarely within the scope of Article 337 of the Revised Penal Code which makes carnal knowledge of a virgin over twelve but under eighteen years of age by a "domestic" punishable as qualified seduction. The term "domestic" as used in said Article is not restricted to household servants. It includes all those persons residing with a family and who are members of the same household (Decisions of November 11, 1881; April 15, 1889 and February 13, 1900 of the Supreme Court of Spain; U.S. vs. Arlante, 9 Phil. 595; U.S. vs. Santiago, 26 Phil. 184; People vs. Lauro Lauchengco, Vol. 45, O.G. p. 3485, 3489, August, 1949).

The inconsistencies pointed out by appellant's counsel in the testimony of the offended party refer to minor details which do not affect her credibility as to the main issue. Those inconsistencies are likely to be incurred by a witness who means to be truthful, but instead of detracting from her credence, they serve to strengthen her testimony. Considering that the complainant was a young girl, being then only 16 years old, with scant education, a stranger in Cabanatuan City, with no one to turn to for help, except to the authorities who had to deal with her in an objective way, it should not be expected that under the circumstances of the case she would be very precise, accurate and exact in every detail of her narration. The important thing is that the gist of her testimony clearly indicates that it was the appellant who violated her virginity, a fact that was never shaken by the defense in the cross-examination of the complainant. Appellant also failed to establish any evil motive on the part of the complainant in accusing him of the heinous offense of seduction.

Appellant also questions the complainant's virginity. That she was a virgin at the time of the commission of the offense is beyond doubt. The record bears out the fact that because of the forcible coition that the offended party had with appellant on the night of January 27, 1958, her vagina bled, that being her first sexual experience. Furthermore, the appellant is bound by what came out during the cross-examination of the complainant when she said in answer to a question of appellant's counsel that before January 27, 1958, she had had no sexual experience (t.s.n., p. 15, Session of Feb. 18, 1960, A. B. Yango).

WHEREFORE, the judgment appealed from is hereby affirmed in all respects with costs against the appellant.

SO ORDERED.

So ORDERED.

Manila, Philippines, September 9, 1960.

(Sgd.) JESUS Y. PEREZ
Judge" (pp. 24-25
Pieza de Apelación);

la cual ha sido elevada a este Tribunal por los demandados, alegando éstos que el Juzgado Inferior había incurrido en los errores que apuntan en su alegato,—pero sometida la causa ante este Tribunal el 28 de Mayo, 1962, no se pudo decidir la misma por la jubilación después del que había de ser el ponente por lo que ultimamente el 7 de Enero, 1965, hubo que designarse a otro en su lugar;

RESULTANDO: Que no hay seria cuestión sobre ciertos antecedentes; la demandada, Lucia Villapando no teniendo su propia casa en la fecha mencionada en la demanda, pero deseando construirla, en la Calle Pepin, Sampaloc, Manila, y habiendo podido conseguir préstamo de la RFC en la cantidad de ₱13,500.00, celebró convenio, asistida de su marido, Primitivo Villapando, con la demandante, Exh. A, el 18 de Diciembre, 1948 en donde ésta última se obligó a construir la casa según plano y especificaciones unidas al convenio; pero a su vez, los esposos se obligaron a pagar por el mismo de la manera siguiente: de los ₱13,500.00 que habían de conseguir de la RFC, ₱8,000.00 se iba a pagar por el trabajo del carpintero escogido ó convenido por las partes, Primo Casabuena, y el restante de ₱5,500.00, Buen Morales utilizaría el mismo para aplicarlo al pago de parte de los materiales; pero luego, los esposos en consideración a la construcción de la casa, deducida ya el costo del trabajo, se obligaron a pagar a Morales, la suma total de ₱20,000.00, de manera que con aquellos ₱5,500.00 ya deducidos, la deuda remanente llegaba a ₱14,500.00, y esta deuda, los esposos obligaronse a garantizar su pago a plazos, mediante escritura de segunda hipoteca (la primera era a favor de la RFC), y por consiguiente, y en la misma fecha, 18 de Diciembre, 1949, firmaron el Exh. B, escritura de segunda hipoteca a favor de Morales, en la cantidad mencionada de ₱14,500.00, pagadera dentro de diez (10) años por amortizaciones mensuales de ₱208.04 al mes y sujeta además a las otras condiciones en la misma estipuladas; pero si la escrituración o mejor dicho, la preparación de la segunda hipoteca se verificó el 18 de Diciembre, 1948, su ratificación ante la fé del Notario Público se pospuso para fecha posterior y se hizo solamente el 19 de Marzo, 1949; en el entretanto, se llevó a cabo la construcción y se hizo entrega de la casa hacía el mismo mes de Marzo, 1949, y el dinero que se pidió prestado de la RFC, lo recibió en su totalidad la demandante,—aquella suma de ₱13,500.00; pero el debate hubo de surgir después puesto que la escritura de segunda hipoteca, Exh. B disponiendo que los deudores hipotecarios hubieron de empezar pagando las mensualidades el Abril de 1949, no lo hicieron, a pesar de los requerimientos Exh. E, H é I, por lo se presentó la demanda, como ya se ha dicho, para el cobro de la misma, pero en la vista, la demandada, Lucia Villapando por medio de su testimonio y del arquitecto, Sr. Ruperto Trinidad, trató de probar que si bien habíase convenido en las obligaciones contenidas en los Exh. A y B, eso fué porque habíale hecho entender, y asegurado la Buen Morales de que el costo de los materiales que utilizaría en la construcción sería P20,000.00,—que agregado a los P8,000.00 precio del trabajo, realmente arrojaría un total de P28,000.00,—suma exactamente igual a los P13,500.00 sacadas de la RFC y los P14,500.00 mencionados como deuda suya en la hipotéca, que ahora se trata de cobrarle; pero que la casa construída no valía más que unos P10,000.00, “I have heard others tell that the construction would cost only about P10,000.00. . that is what they told me” tsn. 16, Manabat, y su testigo, el arquitecto que hizo inspección ocular, pero en ausencia de Morales, llegó a la conclusión de que a lo más, valdría P15,953.60, Exh. 2, pero es de notar desde luego que ese examen lo hizo el Marzo, 1960, pocos meses antes de ocupar él el banquillo testifical, tsn. 60, Manabat, es decir, muchos años después de construída la casa,—pero a la vista de esas pruebas, el Juzgado Inferior no dió crédito alguno a la defensa ofrecida y ésta es la razón porque en esta alzada, los apelantes insisten en que aquél había incurrido en los siguientes errores:

“I. The Lower Court erred in not considering that the plaintiff did not comply with the terms of the deed of second mortgage.

II. The Lower Court also erred in not finding that the defendants were victims of gross misrepresentation by the plaintiff.

III. The Lower Court finally erred in rendering judgment in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendants. (p. 8, Alegato de los demandados-apelantes);

los cuales pueden discutirse conjuntamente, toda vez que la cuestión presentada es bien sencilla, de si en verdad, los apelantes hubiesen sido víctimas de engaño tal como pretenden en su alegato;

CONSIDERANDO: Cuanto a la presentación de que Morales habíales hecho creer y asegurádoles de que los materiales que utilizarían valdrían P20,000.00, esa supuesta representación no aparece en el contrato Exh. A, pues todo lo que allí aparece es que por la suma de P20,000.00, Morales se obligaba a construir la casa de conformidad con los planos y especificaciones, véase Exh. A, página 1, la contestación por tanto de Morales en contrapruebas de que:

“Q.—Was it not a fact that the prime motivation on which Mrs. Villapando entered this contract in the amount of P28,000.00 was because of your assurances that the materials alone to get into the building construction would cost P20,000.00?

A.—Never, I did not assure that. As a matter of fact, I noted them the costs of construction, materials and labor, only they gave us during the conference the amount of labor was P8,000.00. That is why P28,000.00. That was one. That P28,000.00, if I constructed the house for P35,000.00 I am still bound to collect P28,000.00 from them.” tsn. 7, Fabicon, esta explicación era muy buena y la única cuestión ó mejor dicho, defensa que podría caberles a los demandados para resistir la demanda hubiese sido probar que la Morales no había construído de conformidad con los planos y las especificaciones; pero nada hay, completamente, en las pruebas de los apelantes, a este efecto; su arquitecto y testigo, Sr. Trinidad, todo lo que dijo fué que habiendo visitado la casa el mes de Marzo, 1960, había descubierto que a lo más costaría unos ₱15,000.00 y pico, pero esto no es prueba de que se había construído no de conformidad con los planos, —que desgraciadamente no fueron presentados por los Villapando para que se hubiese podido hacer una comparación entre los mismos y la construcción; aparte de que la explicación hecha por Morales sobre los supuestos defectos:

“A.—That is wrong, because he made this estimate after ten years. Well, after ten years, naturally the house was already old, 11th year when he made this. Not only that, the materials in 1948-49 were scarce, you cannot even get those GI sheets in the market, you have to buy it in the black market.” tsu. G, Fabicon, tiene razón; y si a esto se haya de agregarse el detalle bién establecido de que terminada la construcción, el Marzo, 1959, la misma fué aceptada por los esposos apelantes, Exh. F, rogando nada más a Morales que construyera un tercer retrete “not specified in the plan” por lo que ellos mismos se obligaron a sacar el “final plumbing certificate and certificate of occupancy”, id., y eso fué el Marzo, 1949. y luego, cuando llegó el mes de Abril, mes en que debían de haber empezado a pagar las mensualidades, no solamente no pagaron sino que no hicieron quéjas sobre la construcción y en vez de quéjas, lo que enviaron a Morales eran los recados, Exh. C y D, de fechas 1 de Julio, 1949 y 9 de Agosto, 1949, ambos de puño y letra de Lucia, en donde todo lo que ella pedía era un poco de paciencia porque no tenía dinero:

Exh. “C”

“July 1, 1949

Miss Morales—huag kayong magagalit sa akin sa atraso ko, pagkat sa Agosto pa ho dadating ang aking allotment.

Hindi pa ho ako tomatanggap nang sueldo, pagkat bagong discharge pa lamang ang asawa ko. Bagaman hindi ako maka bigay ngayon ay dodoblehin ko ang bayad ko sa inyo sa buwan nang Agosto.

Gomagalang,

(Fdo.) Lucia de Villapando”

Exh. “D”

Agosto 9, 1949

Miss Morales—Pagpapasencianhan mona ninyo, ako nang malake, pagkat hindi pa ho domadating ang cheque namin. Oras ho at domating magbabayad ako sa inyo. Naiinip na rin ho ako, at baka ueikain ninyo na ayaw ko lamang magbayad. Baka ho dito sa matapos ang buan ay dadating na, ay dadalhin ko agad sa inyo.

Gumagalang,

todos estos hechos justifican el firme convencimiento del Tribunal de que las excusas ofrecidas en la vista no concordaban con la verdad; y procede sostenerse el dictamen apelado, pues, la ley es y siempre ha sido de que cada parte contratante está obligada al cumplimiento de lo expresamente pactado, Art. 1258 del Código Civil Antiguo, 1315 del Nuevo, porque lo que está escrito, escrito está.

EN SU VIRTUD, se confirma la sentencia con las costas a cargo de los apelantes.

ASÍ SE ORDENA.

Angeles y Concepción Jr., MM., están conformes.

Se confirma la sentencia.

The following regulations entitled "SECURITY OF CLASSIFIED MATTER IN GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS AND INSTRUMENTALITIES" for safeguarding official matters affecting the national security, to be enforced and observed in all departments, bureaus, offices and agencies of the government in all national, provincial, municipal and city levels, are hereby promulgated:

SECURITY OF CLASSIFIED MATTER IN GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS & INSTRUMENTALITIES

SECTION I

GENERAL

1. Classification categories—

a. Official matter which requires protection in the interest of national security shall be limited to four categories of classification which, in descending order of importance, shall carry one of the following designations:

- (1) TOP SECRET
- (2) SECRET
- (3) CONFIDENTIAL
- (4) RESTRICTED

b. The classifications mentioned in sub-paragraph a above shall not be attached to a matter which does not involve the national security or which does not relate to any one of those specifically enumerated in paragraphs 4, 11, 17, and 23, below.

2. Definition of terms—

a. The term "Department" is used to cover any Philippine Government Department, Service, or Instrumentality.

b. The term "matter" includes everything, regardless of its physical character, on or in which information is recorded or embodied. Documents, equipment, projects, books, reports, articles, notes, letters, drawings, skeletons, plans, photographs, recordings, machinery, models, apparatus, devices, and all other products or substances fall within the general term "matter". Information which is transmitted orally is considered as "matter" for purposes of security.

c. The term "officer" includes any Government or Armed Forces official or officer permanently or temporarily employed in a Department as defined in a.

d. The term "document" covers any form of recorded information, including printed, written, drawn or painted matter, sound recordings, photographs, films, etc. "Documents" are included in "matter".

e. The term "equipment" includes machinery, apparatus, devices, supplies, ammunition, etc.

f. "Security Clearance" is the certification by a responsible authority that the person described is cleared for access to classified matter at the appropriate level.

g. The term "need to know" is the principle whereby access to classified matter may only be given to those persons to whom it is necessary for the fulfillment of their duties. Persons are not entitled to have access to classified matter solely by virtue of their status or office.

h. The term "custodian" is an individual who has possession of or is otherwise charged with the responsibility for safeguarding and accounting of classified material.

i. "Certificate of Destruction" is the certification by a witnessing officer that the classified matter described therein has been disposed of, in his presence, by approved destruction methods (Annex A).

j. The term "physical security" is the safeguarding by physical means, such as guards, fire protection measures and other similar means, of information, personnel, property, utilities, facilities and installation against compromise, trespass, sabotage, pilferage, theft, espionage or any other dishonest or criminal act.

3. Security officers.—A properly trained and cleared Security Officer shall be appointed in every Department of the Government which handles classified matter. He shall undergo training to be conducted by the National Intelligence Coordinating Agency or Armed Forces of the Philippines intelligence agencies. He shall be responsible to the Head of the Department for the implementation and enforcement of these regulations and the necessary action on breaches of security. Before appointment as a Security Officer, an officer must first be cleared by the Head of the Department for access to the highest classified matter the Department is authorized to handle. In providing this clearance, the Head of the Department may coordinate with the National Coordinating Agency or the Department of National Defense.

SECTION II

TOP SECRET MATTER

4. Definition.—Information and material (matter) the unauthorized disclosure of which would cause exceptionally grave damage to the nation, politically, economically, or from a security aspect. This category is reserved for the nation's closest secrets and is to be used with great reserve.

EXAMPLES:

a. Very important documents dealing with such matters as negotiations for major alliances.

b. Major governmental projects such as drastic proposals to adjust the nation's economy (before official publication).

c. Matter relating to new and far reaching experimental, technical and scientific developments in methods of warfare or defense, e. g., vital matter relating to atomic warfare, defense against biological warfare, or matter affecting future operational strategy. A TOP SECRET grading is justified if:

- (1) It is likely to influence military strategy materially;
- (2) It gives us a prolonged military advantage over other nations;
- (3) It is liable to compromise some other project similarly graded.

d. Critical information relating to vital strategic areas and the supply of vital strategic materials.

e. Information which would indicate the capabilities or major successes of our intelligence services or which would imperil secret sources.

f. Critical information about cryptography in so far as it relates to devices and equipment under development.

g. Certain compilations of data or items which individually may be classified SECRET or lower, but which collectively should be put in a higher grade.

5. Classification Authority.—

a. Original classification authority for assignment of TOP SECRET classification rests exclusively with the Head of the Department. This power may, however, be delegated to authorized officers in instances when the necessity for such arises.

b. Derivative classification authority for TOP SECRET classification may be granted those officers who are required to give comments or responses to a communication that necessitates TOP SECRET matter.

6. Reproduction.—

a. TOP SECRET matter may be copied, extracted, or reproduced only when the classifying authority has authorized such action. Permission to reproduce shall not extend beyond a specified number of copies which are to be accorded the same treatment as the original. At the time of issuance of any TOP SECRET document, the classifying authority shall insure that each copy of the document contains a notation substantially as follows:

- (1) "Reproduction of this document in whole or in part is prohibited except with the permission of the issuing officer or higher authority;" or
- (2) "Reproduction of paragraph(s) ——— of this document is prohibited except with the permission of the issuing office or higher authority; other paragraphs may be reproduced."

b. The reproduction of TOP SECRET matter shall be carried out under the supervision of an authorized officer. All materials and waste incidental to the reproduction shall be accounted for and disposed of as prescribed in sub-paragraph 10a below.

7. Inventory.—The Head of the Department shall require physical inventory of all TOP SECRET matter in the custody of his Department at least once a year. Appropriate action on custodial deficiencies shall be made.

8. Transmission.—

a. TOP SECRET matter in the clear shall be transmitted by any of the following means:

- (1) By direct contact of officers concerned.
- (2) By the officially designated courier.
- (3) By accompanied Department of Foreign Affairs diplomatic pouch.

b. TOP SECRET matter shall not be transmitted by mail, express or electrical means, unless in cryptographic form.

9. Storage.—TOP SECRET matter shall be stored—

a. In a safe, steel file cabinet or other steel container equipped with a built-in, three-position, dial-type combination lock which is of such weight, size and construction as to minimize possibility of physical theft or damage by fire or tampering.

b. In a secure room or vault which is approved for such use by the Head concerned and which assures protection comparable to sub-paragraph a above.

10. Destruction.—TOP SECRET matter, which becomes eligible for destruction in accordance with approved schedules, shall be destroyed as prescribed below:

a. Destruction shall be accomplished by burning or pulping by the custodian in the presence of a witnessing officer designated by the responsible Head. Witnessing personnel must have a TOP SECRET clearance.

b. A certificate of destruction shall be prepared and forwarded to the originating office.

SECTION III SECRET MATTER

11. Definition.—Information and material (matter) the unauthorized disclosure of which would endanger national security, cause serious injury to the interest or prestige of the nation or of any governmental activity or would be of great advantage to a foreign nation.

EXAMPLES:

a. High level directives dealing with important negotiations (as distinct from major negotiations which would be in the TOP SECRET category) with other countries.

b. Proposals for new schemes of governmental or other controls, foreknowledge of which would seriously prejudice their operation.

c. Matter relating to certain new methods of warfare or defense, including scientific and technical developments, not classified as TOP SECRET, e.g., new designs of Service aircraft, guided projectiles, tanks, radar and anti-submarine devices. A SECRET grading is justified if:

- (1) It materially influences a major aspect of military tactics;
- (2) It involves a novel principle applicable to existing important projects;
- (3) It is sufficiently revolutionary to result in a major advance in existing techniques or in the performance of existing secret weapons;
- (4) It is liable to compromise some other projects already so graded.

d. Plans or details of schemes for the defense of areas other than vital strategic areas, including plans or particulars of operations connected with them.

e. Vital military information, including photographs, maps, etc., relating to important defenses, establishments, and installations.

f. Intelligence which is not in the TOP SECRET category but which would reveal a secret source, or the value of which depends upon concealing the fact that we possess it.

g. Cryptographic devices and equipment unless specifically assigned to a lower classification.

h. Certain compilations of data or items which individually may be classified CONFIDENTIAL or lower, but which collectively should be put in a higher grade.

12. Classification Authority.—Same as for TOP SECRET matter.

13. Reproduction.—Same as for TOP SECRET matter.

14. Transmission.—SECRET matter shall be transmitted as indicated below:

a. Between points within the Philippines.

- (1) Direct contact of officers concerned.
- (2) Electrical means in cryptographic form.
- (3) Courier specifically authorized by the transmitting agency.
- (4) Philippine registered mail.

b. Between points from within and outside the Philippines and vice-versa, and between points outside the Philippines:

- (1) As authorized in sub-paragraphs 14a(1) through (3) above.
- (2) Accompanied Department of Foreign Affairs diplomatic pouch.

15. Storage.—SECRET matter shall be stored in a manner authorized for TOP SECRET documents, or in metal file cabinets equipped with a steel lock-bar and combination padlock of which the manufacturer's identification numbers have been obliterated. The file cabinets must be of such size, weight, construction or installation so as to minimize the chance of unauthorized physical removal or the possibility of persons gaining unauthorized access by transferring or manipulation or damage by fire.

16. Destruction.—Same as for TOP SECRET matter except that the witnessing officer need have SECRET clearance only and that no certificate of destruction need be prepared. Only records of destruction shall be maintained.

SECTION IV CONFIDENTIAL MATTER

17. Definition.—Information and material (matter) the unauthorized disclosure of which, while not endangering the national security, would be prejudicial to the interest or prestige of the nation or any government activity, or would cause administrative embarrassment or unwarranted injury to an individual or would be of advantage to a foreign nation.

EXAMPLES:

a. Plans of Government projects such as land development, hydro-electric schemes, road development, or development of areas.

b. Routine Service reports, e. g., on operations and exercises, which contain information of value but not of vital interest to a foreign power.

c. Routine Intelligence reports.

d. Technical matter not of major importance but which has a distinct military value or requires protection otherwise, e. g., new weapons calculated to influence minor tactics or Service tests of war equipment of a standard pattern. A CONFIDENTIAL grading is justified if:

- (1) It is more than a routine modification or logical improvement of existing materials and is sufficiently advanced to result in substantial improvement in the performance of existing CONFIDENTIAL weapons;
- (2) It is sufficiently important potentially to make it desirable to postpone knowledge of its value reaching a foreign nation;
- (3) It is liable to compromise some other project already so graded.

e. Certain personnel records and staff matters.

f. Certain compilations of data or items which individually may be classified RESTRICTED, or which may be unclassified, but the aggregation of which enhances their security value.

g. Matters, investigations and documents of a personal and disciplinary nature, the knowledge of which is desirable to safeguard for administrative reasons.

h. Identification of personnel being investigated for misconduct, anomaly or fraud prior to the filing of appropriate charges or completion of the findings of boards created for such purpose.

18. Classification Authority.—Any officer is authorized to assign CONFIDENTIAL classification to any matter in the performance of his duties.

19. Reproduction.—The copying, extracting from or reproduction of CONFIDENTIAL matter is authorized except when the originator or higher authority has specifically denied this authority.

20. Transmission.—Same as for SECRET matter.

21. Storage.—Same as for SECRET matter.

22. Destruction.—Same as for SECRET matter except that the presence of a witnessing officer and records of destruction are not required.

SECTION V

RESTRICTED MATTER

23. Definition.—Information and material (matter) which requires special protection other than that determined to be TOP SECRET, SECRET or CONFIDENTIAL.

EXAMPLES:

a. Departmental books of instruction and training and technical documents intended for official use only or not intended for release to the public.

b. Routine information relating to the supply and procurement of military stores.

c. Minor modifications and routine tests of equipment.

d. Certain compilations of data or items which individually may be unclassified but which in the aggregate warrant a classification.

24. Authority for Classification, Reproduction, Dissemination, and Destruction.—Authority to classify shall be the same as for CONFIDENTIAL matter. Reproduction is authorized. Transmission shall be through the normal dissemination system. Destruction shall be the same as for that of CONFIDENTIAL matter.

SECTION VI

CLASSIFYING AND MARKING

25. General.—The originators of classified matter shall be responsible for its proper classification. Overclassification should be avoided because it prejudices the integrity of the classification system, depreciates the importance of correctly classified matter and creates unnecessary delay, expense and administrative burden.

26. Rules for classification.—

a. Documents shall be classified according to their content.

b. The overall classification of a file or of a group of physically connected documents shall be at least as high as that of the highest classified document therein. Pages, paragraphs, sections or components thereof may bear different classifications. Documents separated from the file or group shall be handled in accordance with their individual classifications.

c. Transmittal documents or indorsements which do not contain classified information or which contain information classified lower than that of the preceding element or inclosure shall include a notation for automatic downgrading.

d. Correspondence, indices, receipts, reports of possession, transfer or destruction, catalogs, or accession lists shall not be classified if any reference to classified matter does not disclose classified information.

e. Classified matter obtained from other Departments shall retain the same original classification.

f. Classified matter furnished to the Philippine Government by a foreign government or international organization shall be assigned a classification which will assure a degree of protection equivalent to that required by the government or international organization which furnished the classified matter. In addition, any special handling instruction shall be complied with.

27. Classification marking.—Classified matter shall be marked as follows:

a. Unbound documents.—The assigned classification for unbound documents, such as letters, memoranda, reports, telegrams and similar documents, the pages of which are not permanently and securely fastened together, shall be marked or stamped (not typed) conspicuously at the top and bottom of all pages which contain classified information. In marking, stamping, or printing the classification categories, the letters shall be larger than the normal lettering of the rest of the document. Front and back covers, and title pages, when used; first pages; and any routing instructions or other papers of any size which conceal or partially conceal the cover, the title or first page shall bear the marking of the overall classification of the document. Other pages, except pages of messages to be transmitted electrically, shall be marked according to the classification of their own content. A cover shall be marked on its outer surface.

b. Permanently bound documents.—A permanently bound document is defined as one from which the pages cannot be removed without damage or mutilation. The classification of permanently bound documents, such as books or pamphlets shall be conspicuously marked, stamped or printed in letters larger than the normal lettering of the rest of the cover or page, at the top and bottom, on the first and back pages, and on the outside of the back cover.

c. Paragraphs, chapters, or sections.—The classification of a paragraph, chapter or section shall be indicated by including the initial of the appropriate classification in parenthesis at the end of such paragraph, chapter or section. Unclassified parts of classified documents will be marked "(U)".

d. Reproduction.—All copies or reproduction of classified matter shall be marked in the same manner as the original.

e. Photographs, films, and recordings.—

(1) Photographs—Negatives shall be marked with the appropriate classification markings and kept in containers bearing conspicuous classification markings. Roll negatives shall be marked at the beginning and end of each strip. Single negatives shall be marked with the appropriate classification. The top and bottom of each photographic print and the center of the reverse side shall be marked with the appropriate classification.

(2) Motion picture films—Classified motion picture films shall be marked at the beginning and end of each roll and in the title of each film, and shall be kept in containers bearing conspicuous classification markings.

(3) Sound recordings—Classified sound recordings shall be marked on readily observable portions with the appropriate markings, preferably at the beginning and at the end; when stored, the container shall display similar markings. When possible the classification shall be announced at the beginning and end of recordings.

f. Charts, maps, and drawings.—Classified charts, maps and drawings shall carry the classification marking under the legend, title block, or scale in such a manner that it can be reproduced on all copies made therefrom. Such classification shall also be prominently marked at the top and bottom in each instance and, if the document is rolled or folded, on the back in a clearly visible place.

In addition, he shall ensure that maintenance personnel make appropriate entries in the aircraft and maintenance records indicating the aircraft has been released to service.

3.2 —Carrying Persons Other than Crewmembers After Repair or Alterations.

3.2.1—No person may carry any person (other than a crewmember) in an aircraft that has been repaired or altered in a manner that may have appreciably changed its flight characteristics, or substantially affected its operation in flight, or in which new or overhauled engine or engines have been installed, until an appropriately rated pilot, with at least a private pilot's certificate, test flies the aircraft and logs the test flight in the aircraft records.

3.2.2—Paragraph 3.2.1 of this section does not require test flight if ground tests or inspections, or both show conclusively that the repair or alteration has not appreciably changed the flight characteristics, or substantially affected the flight operation of the aircraft.
